LIGHTNING STEEL STRIKE GRIPS NATION AS JUDGE RETURNS MILLS TO OWNERS

Ike Closes Gap In GOP Race

Wins All But One Delegate In Bay State

Big Switchover By Democrats Enhances Decisive Victory

BOSTON (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower wiped out most of Sen. Taft's lead in the race for the Republican presidential nomination today, rolling up more than 200,000 popular votes in the Massachusetts primary and winning all but one of the 28 delegate elections.

It was Eisenhower's most decisive victory since the campaign began.

And it was enhanced by a surprising endorsement from Massachusetts Democrats who put him in second place behind the expected winner of their poll, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

The GOP delegate score went to Eisenhower by 27-1 over Taft. They each were allotted two others, who ran unopposed. Six remain uncommitted.

The added 29 for Eisenhower gave him a national total of 265, as computed by The Associated Press. Taft, winning three, moved his national total to 268. (His organization claims 305).

As the returns continued to come in, Eisenhower had more than 69 per cent of the total popular Republican vote. His tally on that ballot alone was greater than the combined votes cast for all other candidates, Republican and Democratic.

Not Binding

All the votes were write-ins, and the results of the "popularity contest" section of the ballot are not binding on delegates from either party.

No write-ins were reported for two other avowed Democratic candidates, W. Averell Harriman of New York, director of the Mutual Security Agency, and Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma.

The total vote for both parties broke a Massachusetts primary record that had stood since 1932. It may have been the result of a turn-out of thousands of independent voters, swelling the Republican total beyond any previous mark.

The election "clinches the case for the nomination of Eisenhower," his national campaign manager, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., said Tuesday night.

"In a clear cut contest between Eisenhower and Taft, the people have loudly proclaimed again that they prefer Eisenhower," Lodge said. "(He) has now conclusively proven that he will be the strongest possible Republican nominee for president."

Raps Democratic Aid

Taft's state campaign manager, Basil Brewer, New Bedford publisher, however, said Eisenhower won because of Democratic assistance. He declared:

"The wide open solicitation and prodding of the Eisenhower leadership to procure Democrat and so-called independents to vote in the Republican primary raises a serious question as to whether today's

Primary Is Next Tuesday

Candidates Step Up Campaigns As Election Day Nears

Campaigning moves into high gear in Marion County as office seekers enter the final week before the 1952 primary election next Tusday.

That's the day when voters will pick the candidates they wish to run in the November finals.

Ballots are going to be large ones this year. Voters will pick delegates to the national conventions, candidates for state offices and candidates seeking county and district posts.

The race for sheriff tops the local contests as far as number of candidates is concerned. Seven men are entered in all — two Democrats and five Republicans.

In order to vote in the primary Marion voters, as usual, will have to state a party preference to get either a Republican or Democratic ballot. Of course, that will not in any way be binding on the individual voter in the general election in November.

First thing to be seen on the ballot will be the list of candidates for delegates to the nominating conventions. Republicans will select two 8th district delegates, and two alternate district delegates, 10 delegates-at-large and 10 alternates-at-large. Democrats will select two delegates and two alternates from the district, and 16 delegates-at-large and 16 alternates-at-large.

Full Slate For Bulkley

Bulkley has a full slate of 16 delegates-at-large on the Democrat ballot but Kefauver has only eight. Both Taft and Stassen have 10 delegates-at-large on the Republican ballot.

Under the names of all the convention delegates and alternates appears in small type the names of the presidential candidates they support. Ths assures the voiter that he knows for whom he's voting.

As always, care must be taken in marking the ballot. The voter's X must appear to the left of the name of each man he selects. The names of candidates for the nominating convention are not grouped together with other candidates pledged to the same presidential aspirant, but instead are rotated to assure that all are given equal positions on the ballot. Thus your ballot may start off with a Stassen man, then two Taft men, another for Stassen, another for Taft, etc. The ballot of a voter in another precinct might start off with two Taft, then three for Stassen, one for Taft, etc.

After the list of convention candidates comes a list of candidates for state offices and last are candidates for county posts.

Sheriff Candidates

Candidates for sheriff are as follows:

Republican:

Ora DeWeese of 156 Park Blvd.—He served 20 years in the city police department, four as desk sergeant and 16 as captain. He's now employed by the Kaiser-Nelson Co. of Cleveland.

Kenneth E. Fields of 495 Forest St.—Now employed by the New York Life Insurance Co., he has participated in Community Fund, Red Cross, and YMCA work and served as clerk of the county board of elections.

Paul R. Gebauer of 706 Gurley Ave.—He served as a special deputy in Seneca County and is now employed as a draftsman by the Fairfield Eingineering Co.

Glenn Obenour of 269 Madison Ave.—He's now a policeman for the Erie Railroad and a former city patrolman. He organized junior playground baseball leagues in Marion.

Edward Arthur Stayner of 133 Klerx St.—He is owner and operator of Art's Delivery Service.

Democrats:

Candidates Introduced At Meeting

By NANCY NOON

"Russia is not so far away as you think!" Paulis Anstrats, a native of Latvia, warned last night as he addressed an audience of more than 150 who attended a pre-primary meeting of voters and candidates in the auditorium of Edison Junior High School.

The meeting was sponsored by the Marion County Farm Bureau Federation and the Marion League of Women Voters. Candidates for party nominations were introduced and offered the opportunity to speak briefly.

Anstrats, who came to the United States last summer after spending eight years in a displaced persons camp, reminded the group that "the world is becoming smaller in our atomic age," and consequently, Russia is not so far away as Americans have been inclined to think.

He cited the danger of communism, pointing out that his own countrymen had believed themselves strong enough to resist communism, but eventually were forced to yield to Russian oppression.

Voting Different

Voting in Latvia is far different from the United States system of election, he declared. The government, which is under Russian control, submits a ballot on which the number of candidates is the same as the number of offices to be filled. Each voter must mark his ballot in the presence of a government officer, or suffer the loss of his passport permit.

He concluded, "Your right to vote is a very unusual privilege!"

Anstrats, who spoke for a nation that has lost the right to vote, was followed on the program by Roy Akagi of Japan who represented a nation that has recently gained the right to vote. Both young men are students at Ohio Wesleyan University. The topic for their talks was "The Great Privilege of a Free Vote."

Akagi said the Japanese appreciate their new right to vote and are taking advantage of the opportunity. In the last election, 41 million of the 81 million population were eligible to vote. Of

Nationwide Oil Strike Idles 87,000

Refinery, Pipeline Workers Walk Off Jobs in Wage Dispute

DENVER (AP) — Approximately 87,000 oil workers throughout the nation began laying down their tools today as a strike of union refinery and pipeline workers got under way at 12:01 a.m. Negotiations continued meanwhile on their demands for a 25-cent hourly wage increase and improved shift differentials.

Negotiations in some locales were reported progressing on a note of optimism, especially in San Francisco where about 25,000 union-affiliated industry workers were represented in talks — none of them on strike.

The Oil Workers International Union (CIO) in Denver had requested 10,000 members in California to remain on the job so as not to hinder operations for the Korean war effort.

Present wages reportedly average between $2 and $2.10 an hour. A union spokesman said union and management generally were about 10 cents apart when the strike began.

New negotiations are being conducted on a plant-by-plant basis and the exact strike picture will require some time to clarify. Some 200 separate contracts are involved.

A CIO union official said each plant involved in the strike would be manned after the strike deadline by union workers for a sufficient time for orderly, safe shutdown. He added the time required "will depend upon the type of plant—some may be shut down safely within a matter of minutes, others may take 72 hours."

Motorists are expected to be hit hardest by a prolonged strike.

Brazil Jungles Combed For Lost Airliner

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Search planes combed vast, unexplored Brazilian jungles and desert-like plateaus today for a luxurious Pan-American Stratocruiser which vanished enroute to New York with 50 persons aboard.

Nineteen of them—the crew of nine and 10 passengers—were Americans.

One searcher droned through the night over the wilderness between Rio de Janeiro and Belem, hoping to spot a light or a fire if anyone survived in the thinly-populated wilds where the plane was believed down.

Many more searchers, after giving up the hunt at dark, returned to the air at dawn.

GRANTS INJUNCTION, WORKERS OUT. Federal Judge David Pine (left) granted temporary injunctions against President Truman's seizure of the steel industry and CIO President Phil Murray (right), said the steelworkers have no choice but to "cease work immediately," sending some 650,000 workers from the mills. Pickets appeared at the mills within an hour after Pine's ruling and workers started to bank furnaces in preparation for the walkout.

Drafting Anti-Seizure Legislation

Maybank Would Make Judge's Rule Air-Tight

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal judge's decision calling President Truman's seizure of the steel mills illegal touched off a move in Congress today to "make the ruling absolutely air-tight on a much broader scale."

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate banking committee put it that way in telling a reporter he is having legislation drafted which would "specifically outlaw federal seizure of any private property unless it were authorized by Congress in advance."

On the other hand, Chairman Murray (D-Mont) of the Senate Labor committee said the steel case decision handed down here Tuesday by Judge David A. Pine "makes it imperative Congress grant the President the seizure power the court says he does not now have." Murray added:

"Even if it takes a constitutional amendment, the President must be given the authority."

The District Court ruling also focused fresh attention on moves in the House to start impeachment proceedings against Truman.

Cites Judge's Courage

Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, the Senate Republican leader, said:" I do not see how an objective jurist could have ruled otherwise. I feel Judge Pine should be congratulated for his courage in rendering such a sweeping decision so promptly."

Sen. Willis Smith (D-NC), chairman of a Senate judiciary subcommittee which is investigating the legal aspects of the seizure order: "The decision is quite understandable to me because I had not been able to find any warranty in law or in the provisions of the Constitution that could justify any such far-reaching action by the President."

Rep. Bender (R-Ohio): "Judge Pine has struck a major blow for liberty. . . . I hope that Congress will not permit the dropping of this matter and will press forward to assure the preservation of our constitutional rights."

The House judiciary committee plans to vote tomorrow on what to do about 10 resolutions before it, some of them call-

United Appeals Discussion Set Tonight

Residents of Marion city and county will have an opportunity to express their views on whether or not future fund campaigns should be conducted as a United Appeals Campaign at a meeting set for 8 o'clock tonight at Harding High School.

Invitations have been sent out to labor organizations, service and fraternal groups, women's organizations, the Manufacturers Council, Retail Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the Ministerial Association, various charitable organizations and other community groups to attend the meeting. It is expected that representatives of these groups will be in attendance to express their views and those of their organizations on the movement.

Speakers who have studied the advantages and disadvantages of a United Appeals Campaign will be present to answer questions.

Plans to organize a single drive for all of Marion's charitable and welfare needs were begun earlier this year when various workers and contributors, participating in the numerous drives, expressed a desire to combine the work into one concerted effort.

In addition to studying the methods used in a United Appeal Campaign, an investigating committee has conferred with the Columbus United Appeals Committee regarding the drive conducted for the first time in Columbus and which resulted in an overwhelming success. Cleo R. Ludwig, past president of the Community Chest, served as chairman of the investigating committee. Other members are J. B. Bray, John S. Pickerel, Harold H. Douthitt, Ivan R. Barnhart, Mrs. W. I. Barnhouse, Earl Fleming, Carroll W. Davidson and Robert G. Scott.

1st Training School Escape Try Thwarted

Two inmates at the Marion Training School, apparently attempting to escape, were taken into custody by sheriff's deputies and a training school guard shortly after they left the school Tuesday afternoon.

Lamoyne A. Greene, superintendent at the school, said the boys walked off the job while working in the farm area at the school. They didn't go far from the school area.

Deputy Sheriffs Elmer Ullom and Malcalm Severns along with the training school guard William Huffman took the pair into custody around 2 p.m. Tuesday along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near Crystal Lake. Deputy Ullom said he believed the boys were planning an escape even though they were near the school area. He said they had stopped to watch a group of boys swimming in a stone quarry but ran when they saw the law men approaching.

Deputy Ullom said one of the boys was from Portsmouth and the other from Georgetown Brown County. They were listed as 17 and 18 years old. One would have been eligible for parole in three weeks. One had been sentenced for auto theft and breaking and entering while the oth-

Truman Reversed; Govt. Rushes Case To Court of Appeals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Judge David A. Pine formally ordered the government today to give the nation's steel mills back to their owners as a wildfire strike closed the billion dollar industry down tight.

Government lawyers immediately moved to appeal Pine's action and seek a higher court reversal of the judge's ruling that President Truman's April 8 seizure of the steel industry —to head off a walkout—was illegal.

Across the nation, virtually all the 650,000 members of the CIO United Steelworkers of America were leaving their jobs in history's quickest shutdown of the vital industry.

Truman's Claim Denied

Pine's formal order restraining the government from "continuing the seizure and possession" of the steel plants came less than 24 hours after he (1) ruled the President's seizure action unconstitutional and (2) denied what he called Truman's claim of "unlimited and unrestrained power."

Assistant Attorney General Holmes Baldridge, representing the government as today's order was issued, told the judge his action would cause "incalculable" damage.

Baldridge asked Pine, a Democratic appointee of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, to postpone the effective date of his give-back-the-mills order. Pine refused to do so.

With Pine's ruling, the final step at the level of his court was service of the order on Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, custodian of the mills for the government.

Files Appeal Notice

Immediately, Baldridge filed notice the order would be appealed. Presumably this will be done in the U. S. Court of Appeals and then taken to the Supreme Court as quickly as possible if the Appeals Court allows the ruling to stand.

The steel companies undoubtedly will appeal themselves if the higher court ruling goes against them.

Pines injunction was a temporary one, to remain in effect "pending a final hearing and determination of the case."

At the White House, Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said Truman was keeping in "very close touch with the situation" but declined to say what possible moves were under consideration.

"Is there a speech or message to Congress in preparation by the President?" a reporter asked.

"I can't talk about this matter at all," Short said.

Asked whether there might be something during the day from the White House, Short said he could not answer that question.

Short also was asked whether Truman had been in touch with CIO President Philip Murray since Judge Pine's decision. Short said he hadn't heard of any communication between Truman and Murray.

He was asked specifically whether the President might invoke the Taft-Hartley Act, but declined to discuss this.

Top stabilization officials told newsmen they did not know what the government would do next in an effort to maintain steel production.

Roger L. Putnam, economic stabilization director, hinted there might be a White House conference on the situation.

But he and Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall both said they had not been in touch with President Truman on the matter.

Nathan Feinsinger, chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board, told reporters, "All I know is what I read in the papers."

Embargo On Steel

With the vast steel industry shutting down overnight, the government slapped an embargo on shipments of steel from warehouses to producers of civilian goods and to foreign countries.

The National Production Authority issued the order within two hours of Pine's decision in a move to conserve the supplies on hand until it is determined whether they will have to be diverted from civilian to military use.

Outside of the courts, one further course was open to Truman; to invoke the Taft-Hartley law.

Philip Murray, president of the Steelworkers Union and the CIO, sought to nip such a move in advance, saying the union already has complied with Taft-Hartley provisions. Murray declared the strike would continue until the workers get a contract along the lines recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board.

Judge Pine strongly indicated in Tuesday's decision that the President should invoke Taft-Hartley, which requires an 80-day cooling-off period before a strike can start.

Truman has refused so far to use the Taft-Hartley Act, on the ground that the union already—at his request—has postponed its strike well over 80 days.

But in the light of his declaration that all-out production of steel must be continued or the defense program will break down, he may have to use the law he opposes in the event Justice Department lawyers fail to suspend or upset Judge Pine's ruling.

The 60-year-old judge, after

Nation's Steel Mills Close Down In Matter Of Hours

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steelworkers who struck when a judge said Uncle Sam couldn't be their boss throttled steel production today in the quickest steel plant shutdown in history.

A complete halt in America's defense-vital steel industry within hours seems certain. About 650,000 workers are idle—or soon will be.

Mill after mill went dark and silent as companies and union maintenance crews banked furnace after furnace following hours of confusion at the start of the walkout Tuesday night.

President Philip Murray of both the CIO and the CIO United Steelworkers ordered the strike when a federal judge ruled President Truman acted illegally in seizing the steel industry April 9 to avert a strike on that day.

Executives had feared the unprecedented haste with which workers poured out of the plants would result in extensive damage to costly equipment. But their worries appeared largely groundless except for scattered instances.

In many plants workers themselves made sure maintenance standby crews remained to cool off furnaces when the rest of the employes picked up their lunch boxes and headed for home.

At Cleveland, Republic Steel Corp. reported its plants throughout the nation will be completely shutdown within three hours. Republic officials said no damage has been done to steelmaking facilities.

In the past, steel companies have taken two and three days to complete an orderly shutdown process. The current strike seems destined to do the job in well under 24 hours.

Asks Passage of Bill To Kill Political Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Sen. George (D-Ga) called today for legislation which would outlaw loans by individuals to political parties or committees.

George, who heads the Senate Finance committee, told a reporter he believes such legislation should take either the form of an amendment to the tax laws or changes in the Corrupt Practices Act.

Sen. Williams (R-Del), a member of George's committee, told the Senate Tuesday three wealthy citizens were permitted to charge off their income taxes 90 per cent of loans totaling $410,000 made from 1940 through 1948 to the New York State Democratic Committee.

The Delaware senator named the three as Richard J. Reynolds of Winston-Salem, N. C., Marshall Field of Chicago and David

Small Recent Happenings

I don't know who the first performer on television was, but I rather suspect it was a lady with a pot in one hand and the diced carrots in the other, advising you to go easy on the onions and to boil for precisely 12 minutes. The cooking expert is still very much with us, expounding her improbable menus from coast to coast. My favorite is a male expert named Video Chef you'll find on WJZ-TV in New York whose work has a dreamy quality missing from most of these things. He reminds me strongly of my own work in the kitchen.

Just the other day, the Video Chef, who is known on street level as Joel Holl, was gazing helplessly at a large pot. "Well, this is a tremendous thing," he exclaimed. "How many quarts would you say this holds, Dick (his assistant) — eight?" Dick (Bell) looked at it dubiously: "Six." "Well, six then," declared the Video Chef and turned his attention to a boxful of shrimps. "Now this cost me about—well, say—$2. No. $1.50. I think that was it . . . Now there are two ways to cook this. One recipe says stir vigorously. The other one says don't stir."

My own methods, exactly. I stir. Or sometimes I don't stir. It all depends on how far away the ladle is and how I feel and a lot of other intangibles. The results are always unexpected. Of course, I wouldn't advise eating the food. But then, much of the TV cookery seems to be prepared entirely for entertainment purposes, anyhow, and it's refreshing to meet a man so wonderfully vague about how much it costs, how many you can expect to serve with it and how, exactly, to cook it.

THE DRAMATIZED commercial has reached its logical apex—the punch on the jaw. Coca Cola's newest film clip features John Wayne in an entanglement with a villain. Wayne parries a clumsy left, belts the bad man out cold with a right cross, and immediately sprints off the stage, declaring: "I could use a break. Hey, Johnny, where's that Coke?" Then he drinks it, drooling adjectives.

Over the years, a lot of muscular young actors have moved down a lot of villains to get at a great many desirable objects—lovely ladies, the deed for Bar-X Ranch, the claim to the gold mine. Now they'll settle for a Coke. The late George Bernard Shaw used to accuse us of solving all dramatic problems in this country with a punch in a jaw. We've progressed beyond that. We solve the advertising copy writers' problems, too. As a matter of fact, the punch on the jaw has been used as advertising matter in comic strip form for years — the weakling bolting down his Wheaties and then, his muscles suitably strengthened, punching the other un-Wheatied guy into oblivion. Wayne is the first man I know to do this chore live.

THE OTHER NEW advertising note that has come to my attention is what I like to think of as the acquiescent commercial. From "Martin Kane — Private Eye:" "You realize, Inspector, that Dill's Best is milder, better, smoother." Says the Inspector: "I do." The other guy goes right on with it, saying that Dill's Best is a miracle of sweetness, a triumph of economy, a wonder of packaging. "I know," says the Inspector.

SOME SMALL recent disasters. A boy on the last Faye Emerson Wonderful Town show got tongue-twisted and said Coke—an expression which is profanity to the Pepsi-Cola empire — instead of Pepsi. Robert Montgomery on his dramatic show got bemused and referred to Teresa Wright as Martha Scott about four times. The WNYC-FM record player got stuck and played the same passage from Schumann's "Fantasie in C" 83 times.

Anti-Communist note: On Ed Sullivan's salute to Cole Porter the phrase "the steppes of Russia" from "You're The Tops," was changed to "the songs of Prussia."

CHILD SAVED FROM FIRE BY FATHER. Unaware that her mother and baby brother are in critical condition, little Diane Weber smiles from a bed in a Pittsburgh hospital where she is recovering from minor burns. When flames swept the Weber home, Diane's father, Louis Weber, grabbed her and jumped from a window. The mother then leaped with Donald, 2, in her arms.

Everything costs more, including rebuilding a burned home

We don't have to remind you of the fact that many homes that cost $5,000 twenty years ago are now being sold for $15,000. How long since you have checked your fire insurance policies? Are you sure that you have coverage, are you sure that you will be paid enough should the unexpected happen to replace everything you have, should you have a total loss?

Don't guess, let us look at your policies and tell you what you should do. No obligation of any kind.

Babies Keep People Busy Providing Their Daily Needs

More girl babies. More boy babies. Goodness, even more baby mannikins. For the infants' department, that is.

Snooping around to find out whats' new for and about babies, we turned up the fact that sales of mannikins have doubled. Originally wanted only for window displays. Now they're better made, full of action.

So many demands set off by these blessed bundles, who check in minus teeth, blankets, clothing, carriages, high chairs, toys. Baby books, too. Nursers and baby foods.

You could almost say that scientists today hang over the cribs studying the foods that baby eats. Doctors, nurses, nutritionists, researchers all bring the fruits of their experience to young parents. Babies of this era are proof positive that the selection of food to maintain good health and well-being is of paramount importance. The story of baby's advance on the road to right eating shows less infant mortality, less infant disease, better growth, bigger smiles and appetites. And, of course, fewer howls before dawn.

Get a glimpse of what goes on in and around a modern baby foods plant and you'll understand why babies have big appetites. You see the green and gold of the harvest rolling in, crops grown from selected seed, watched in the growing, picked at the peak of goodness. Timing is critical. Each minute is precious. Laboratory and line studies watch always for new ways to conserve to the utmost the nutrients in the foods so carefully chosen and prepared for strained and junior foods.

With the prospective customers arriving at the rate of seven a minute, a baby foods firm no longer can rely exclusively on one harvest, one section of the country. When untimely frost nips the early spinach planting in one state, another crop must be flourishing near another company plant in a sunshine state.

Happily for all concerned, price tags on baby foods have stayed old-fashioned, holding back from the general markup in food prices. Important factor has been the vast volume of the little jars and cans required by the national appetite.

Given the biggest potential since the introduction of prepared baby foods, this promises to be a $180 million year for the entire baby foods business. (Estimate covers special baby cereals, meats, strained and junior foods; does not take into account dairy products, citrus juices and other diet essentials of the nation's young).

"Penny Lou" Paid For With Pennies

Going up? New York City toy manufacturer announces that penny banks are gone forever. In the future he'll turn out only banks for nickels and up.

Yet a proud young South Dakota father proved that pennies do count by paying a hospital with 9,070 pennies for the delivery of his new daughter. The baby's name? "Penny Lou."

ROUGH RIDER . . . Jeans and jacket of cotton and acetate knit that looks like denim but feels like jersey.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Men can be men from the cradle up, these days.

No longer is it necessary to dress your boy baby in dainty ruffles and frills. Manufacturers have come up with strictly masculine togs for future he-man, styled without a hint of the sissy look against which small boys have rebelled since time began. Oldsters who remember the "Little Lord Fauntleroy" clothes at the turn of the century can appreciate the sensible, rugged little-boy clothes worn by their grandchildren today.

Many of the new "tuffy" clothes for boy babies are made of soft cotton knits woven to look like such rugged fabrics as denim and seersucker. One of these (denimthal) looks exactly like denim at 10 paces, yet is soft, absorbent and non-irritating to tender baby skin.

Diaper versions of blue jeans are available in this soft denim knit, authentic even to the brass gripper fasteners. The same fabric is used in overalls and matching jackets, masculine enough for the most rip-snorting cowboy in the playpen set.

Cotton knit seersucker is another new fabric especially suited for baby wear, sometimes combined with terry cloth. It comes in either red or blue and white stripes, is used effectively in a long-pants sailor suit for baby boys.

Gone are the days of dainty dresses for men-children. Now boys can be boys, wearing blue jeans from the start.

DIAPER JEANS . . . Made of soft jersey, this diaper cover has brass snaps.

NEW TOT'S TRAY

An aluminum tot's tray will permit little children to sit on regular chairs and eat at the grown-ups' table. It fastens to the table, conserving floor space and also saves the tablecloth from "accidents."

Brass is an alloy of copper and zinc; bronze, an alloy of copper and tin.

Memorable Mothers

When Mother's Day is observed Sunday, May 11, with church-going and flowers, count up the devout mothers recorded in the Bible:

Sarah, Genesis 21:6.
Hannah, I Samuel 1:22.
Elizabeth, Luke 1:46.
Mary, Luke 1:46.
Eunice, II Timothy 1:5.

MOTHER'S OWN CALENDAR

Unable to recall the ages of her four children, a mother in a remote section told investigators: "Well, I got one lap child, one creeper, one porch child and one yard yung 'un."

Poor Baby Can't Escape Taking That Given Name

Multiply the 3,833,000 arrivals last year by their parents, a pride of grandparents, a few aunties, uncles, great greats and bridesmaids, and you have some idea of the millions of headaches that surrounded each choice of a given name.

Poor baby. It's a game of "given take" for him, even though the entire family agrees that he is the most wonderful child in the whole world. Within 48 hours his name —the name he will answer to for life—must be chosen and filed on a birth certificate. Why not hand baby 26 names, from A to Z, so he can pick his favorite later on?

Puzzled parents might look into the original meaning of the tag. For instance, Linda, newly popular last year, means "lovely maid." Yet Mary, long a favorite, means "distressed, tearful." The country calls close to six million Marys and about four million Johns.

William is still tops for boy babies. Let's see, William, Willard or Willis, Teutonic origin, means "defender, protector of many, shield."

Some parents drop diplomacy and go in for a tag that is cute with the surname, thus making baby unhappy along with the family. Typical of names pinned on helpless infants are Candy Barr, Wisteria Vine, John Doe. Mr. and Mrs. Tervi really set things up for their daughter by calling her Topsy.

Treatment Outlined For Infant's Bumps

Generally it takes parents longer to recover from baby's fall than it takes the baby, according to Philip M. Stimson, M.D., writing in Parents' Magazine. For visible bumps he recommends a small piece of ice in a washcloth applied for 5 to 10 minutes.

Bleeding, bruises or scrapes should be washed clean with cotton or soft cloth and soap and water, preferably diluted with tincture of green soap. For serious cuts and bumps with lingering after effect, a call to the doctor is recommended.

After laundering, smooth small doilies over the sides of your washing machine or refrigerator to dry; no ironing needed.

RINGING PHONES

If Baby cries when the phone rings at feeding time, rearrange furniture so that phone is always near at hand. Another solution is to have the bell tuned down.

GOING PLACES

Of special interest to parents with an auto and an urge to travel is a new portable high chair that folds into a very small space, yet is sturdy and bottom-heavy enough for everyday duty.

By The Associated Press

The four million newest inhabitants of the United States will be well provided with scientifically tested playthings this year, according to the National Baby Week survey of the American Toy Institute.

Close to four million babies were born in 1951, and estimates are for at least that many new arrivals in 1952. This bumper production of American babies has kept toy manufacturers racing to keep up with the demand for crib and playpen toys but at present the situation is reported well in hand.

Science contributes new hardy plastics to join the familiar parade of bright-colored rubber and wood playthings all designed to make baby's play life safer, more germ-proof and more varied in constructive activity.

Newest diversion for rattle users is a softly upholstered plastic horse's head with bright red reins which clamps on highchair or carriage and makes a gay target for small fists. Other new rattles are equipped with suction cups which grip play table or tray, saving pick-up chores for Mother.

Circus elephants in gay red are an addition to a new version of the baby gym that stretches across crib or carriage to encourage baby arms and legs toward exercise.

Latest addition to soap-bubble fun is a plastic locomotive that emits bubbles instead of smoke as the toddler pushes and pulls.

New in cuddly animals is a plush teddy bear with lifelike plastic face. Another is the "whistling giraffe." Stuffed animals equipped with music box and squeeze-'em sound effects give variety to the traditional nursery zoo.

Inflated plastics also are being more widely used for baby playthings, at home in or out of the bathtub.

Babies Like To Yawn, Know How To Relax

One of the first reflex actions to be observed in infants is—pandiculation. This high and mighty word, from the Latin for "stretching one's self" means only—you guessed it, yawning.

Babies and animals love to yawn. That's because they know how to relax. Some grownups yawn when they are bored. Or after eating and eating. A yawn is so refreshing. And catching. There you go!

Pajamas For Active Babies

Keeping the baby warm at night is a constant concern of most parents since the baby is an expert at kicking off his blankets when he is only a few months old. Until he becomes [illegible] it may be possible [illegible] by [illegible] the blanket with blanket [illegible].

Warm pajamas with feet will become necessary sooner or later, however. Within the past few years some have been designed to replace completely the usual blankets on moderately chilly nights, especially for very young and active children.

Rubber pants or waterproof diaper covers are recommended to keep the baby warm and his bed dry. Whatever night wear is used, the baby should be free to move and turn at will.

EASIER TO DRESS

Dressing can be easier when baby is given a toy to hold his attention.

Bowes Ice Cream . . . Best For Babies!

New Ideas Ease Problem

Less than a score of years ago a diaper was an unmentionable in polite society. Now, however, a new and healthier attitude has been developed toward this essential item of baby wear.

The healthier mental attitude is being reflected in better physical health for a great many more babies

The laborious job of keeping baby supplied with diapers that must be not only fresh and clean, but which also should be as sterile as science can make them, need no longer be a burden for mother

The commercial services that have grown up to relieve her of this burden are in no small way responsible for the healthier mental attitude toward the world and also for the improved health of infants because they have rescued diapering from continuing as a haphazard affair They have introduced the scientific approach and at the same time have eliminated most of what used to be the complications.

Correct diapering is the major interest of the National Institute of Diaper Services which has set up standards for assuring the public of getting properly processed diapers in the interests of baby health.

Habits of Life Start With Early Training

Way back in grade school, children chanted, 'Sow an act and you reap a habit, sow a habit and you reap a character"

Today habits are so closely allied with health that in its publication, "Your Child from One to Six," the U S Children's Bureau says

"Habit is the tendency to do again what has been done before It is a way of behaving, thinking, or feeling that — once estalished —is easily followed Habits are learned, not inherited"

Just how early does that pink and white tyke of yours start developing lasting habits? The word habit sounds completely mature and fixed—not something to associate with a helpless mite who engages everyone's attention by squidging his nose

Yet nutritionists and psychologists now agree that while the foundation for health is laid in the first six years, training in proper food habits must be established within the first year The answer seems to be that while baby looks so yielding and adaptable, it actually is his nature to resist change Baby can be counted on to balk at new foods And when he balks, he lets the folks next-door hear about it

Change Bothers Baby

All this resistance to change has been occupying the attention of folks whose every day jobs are bound up with babies For instance, Edna Mae McIntosh, well-known nutritionist, says

"Mothers who cater to this love of sameness, instead of overcoming it, find too late that the youngster has a whole set of dislikes that are almost impossible to destroy So important are the food patterns established while the infant still is in the cradle that you can say without exaggeration that they determine not only what he will and won't eat as a two-year-old, but also as a mature adult No one ever has a sense of adventure about food who starts out on a restricted diet"

Variety, of course, is stressed in the well-rounded diet for adults but psychologists and nutritionists are convinced that adults will instinctively limit their choice of vegetables and fruits unless they are trained early in life to a healthy acceptance of many foods

In other words, the husband who "cleans his plate' and eats everything, is paying a tribute to the "right start in life' given by his mother, as well as to his wife's cooking.

It's easy to provide an interesting assortment of flavors for each mealtime with today's growing choice of strained and junior foods and precooked starting cereals.

Colorful strained foods fit readily into quick dessert treats that will be enjoyed by grown-ups in the toddler s family

For instance, fruits are folded into stiffly whipped, slightly sweetened egg white to be served with graham crackers for that added crunch to exercise brand new teeth Whip may be spooned over crumbled bananas, or served over gelatin or banana slices

That important baked potato becomes a double-duty main dish when 1 to 2 tablespoons of junior meat is mashed into it with a fork just at serving time

Advise Regular Doctor Visits

Regular visits to the doctor during a baby's first year have become a matter of course with many parents They help prevent sickness and assure the parents that their baby is developing normally

However, many mothers and fathers worry unnecessarily because they are not sure whether or not the doctor is needed at other times

The editors of Parents' Magazine, after consultation with pediatricians, make the following recommendations

Spitting up after eating, occasional hiccoughing and coughing, and poor appetite at one meal are not serious

However, if the baby's face is flushed, if he is irritable, restless, refuses food, vomits, cries, rolls his head or has a rise of temperature pulse or respiration something is wrong.

Other signs may be hoarseness nasal discharge, skin eruptions, or stool that is watery or of abnormal color

At the first sign of sickness, put your baby to bed

Before you call the doctor take the baby's temperature Then write down all the comments you think will interest the doctor

From your information he can tell whether he should come or whether he can advise you by telephone what to do

Family Tub Can Be Used for Baby

The new baby can be bathed in the family tub right from the beginning if no special tub or bathinettes is readily available

Using only about an inch of water, wash baby at the drain end of the tub. Then, for rinsing transfer him to the far end of the tub where the water remains clearer.

Child Mirrors Parent Traits, Doctor Says

Specialist Tells Mothers, Fathers They Set Pattern

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
Associated Press Writer

Your child's personality will be largely shaped by what you are, a noted child behavior specialist warns parents.

According to Dr. Gelolo McHugh of Duke University, "your child will learn his emotional and social responses through your everyday attitudes."

You cannot promote a child's social growth without being consistently on the side of what is right and fair, he says. You must respect junior's rights in the same spirit that you want him to deal with others. You will not teach a child how to respect other people's "turns to talk," for example, unless you also respect his right to be heard in his turn.

How much your child leans on you for protection will depend on the way you teach him about the world he lives in," Dr. McHugh points out.

"Warn him of any approaching new and sudden experience, and tell him what it will be like if you can. For instance, when you and your small child are waiting for a train, show him what to expect and that you are not afraid by imitating noises the train will make when it rushes by the station platform."

Memories Lacking

Many adults have forgotten much about their early childhood, says Dr. McHugh. They don't realize that child's lack of experience places him in many strange situations that frighten him as much as strange adult situations would frighten his parents. Your child may be afraid the first time he hears an alarm clock go off or sees prancing horses, just as you may be afraid during your first airplane ride or when you think a burglar is prowling about your house.

"If you get a selfish enjoyment from having your child completely dependent on you, he will naturally come to believe that the world is not safe unless you are near," he says. "It will be better to offer him chances to learn a reasonable degree of independence of you at an early age than it will be to force independence upon him at a later time when he will have the added problem of unlearning the dependence you have taught him."

Have Life In Mind

Dr. McHugh declares the "best philosophy of child rearing is one that keeps mothers and fathers aware that life must be faced sooner or later and makes them alert for every chance to help a child learn how to meet life as it is while still under the guidance of wise and understanding parents.

"The degree of wisdom and understanding that parents themselves have will naturally determine how well they can pass on a wisdom and understanding of the world to their children."

Baby Affords Material For Camera Bugs

From the moment he is born, your baby is delightful material for memory-making camera studies. Try to get pictures of him that are unusual and something more than the ordinary snapshot variety.

With a little thought and effort, you can make a record of your baby's growth and development that will delight the whole family for generations to come.

A few simple rules will help you get the best results. To begin with, your camera should be on a solid tripod or table about six to 10 feet from your young models. If your camera is a type that must be focused, do this very carefully and accurately. Use a stand-in for the baby while you adjust your lights.

Working with two photofloods, place one in front of the subject (but out of range of the lens) and one to the side and above the subject. The side light should be closer to the subject than the front light. If you have a third flood, use it as a second side light.

Information on correct exposure is published by the lamp manufacturers and is available free from your dealer. Or handy pocket-exposure guides for use with photofloods can be purchased for a small sum.

Let the background be simple. "Busyness" draws the eye away from the baby and defeats the purpose of the picture. A plain wall makes the safest background.

Use a minimum of accessories—a simple toy or teething ring.

Don't struggle for formal poses. Use natural situations.

Be careful of too much action. The average family camera cannot handle rapid movement.

Watch for the right moment—then shoot.

Nylon Costume Ideal for Baby

Fathers Now Take Share Of Child's Care

The young father of today is no longer a displaced person after he has handed out the initial cigars and candy.

More and more he is taking over his share of care of the new baby, and having fun doing it.

Dad's efficiency, of course, is given a real assist by the sterilized bottles of formula stored in the refrigerator, ready to be warmed. Some executive-type Dads even take over the preliminaries, such as mixing the formula and sterilizing the bottles. The latter process has been speeded up recently by acceptance of the hospital-tested terminal method, in which everything used in feeding the baby is sterilized at once.

THE NEW METHOD is as follows: First assemble all equipment needed.

Wash everything thoroughly in a big pan full of hot, sudsy water, taking special care to scrub nipples and bottles with their special brushes. Rinse everything well, and put aside to drain.

While bottles are draining, prepare formula. Stir until well mixed, but do not heat. Fill bottles with the required amount of formula; bright blue ounce-markings on the new bottles make it easy to get just the right amount in each. Put a little clear water in the small bottles to be used for orange juice and water feeding. Inverter nipples should be placed on bottles, feeding tips down. Screw on plastic collars, but not too tight to allow for steam expansion.

PLACE BOTTLES in sterilizer or pan deep enough so that bottles stand upright, not touching cover. Run tepid water into sterilizer up to milk line of bottles. Cover pan tightly, bring water slowly to boil. Time exactly 15 minutes from start of boiling. Thus formula is cooked and all parts sterilized simultaneously.

Cool, dry each bottle and store in refrigerator.

Market New Layette Items

Miscellaneous layette items which make headlines include a bib of clear plastic decorated in natural, fast colors, which covers baby's shoulders as well as chest. The neckline is especially designed to prevent binding and chafing, and there is a large roomy pocket to catch crumbs.

For the delicate work of cutting baby's finger and toe nails, special ball-pointed scissors and clippers are made, and come protected in a case of their own.

Convenient hanger-dryers keep knitted socks and booties from shrinking or stretching out of shape.

In the baby's room, an aluminum ventilator with slats which open and close regulates the temperature, letting in fresh air but keeping out drafts, rain and snow.

COLD NIGHT TIP

On cold nights put a clean diaper between baby's blankets. When changing time comes it will be ready for use and also warm.

Small Fry Party Fare For Child Health Day

PARTY GOODIES . . . Jellied Carrot Salad.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Celebrate Child Health Day May 1 by having a party for the small fry in your family. A party doesn't have to be anything elaborate when the guests are toddlers. A few surprises, such as paper hats and balloons, dime store favors and good but simple food, will do the trick. Paper mats, plates and cups will mean less cleanup for mother afterward, and youngsters love them when they're gaily decorated. A cluster of balloons suspended above the party table will be enough of a centerpiece and each child can take one along when it's time to go home.

This wholesome party menu, featuring strained and junior foods, will suit young appetites. These foods, prepared especially for babies and toddlers, are gratifyingly uniform in texture, color, flavor, and nutritional values. The sandwiches on the menu may be made ahead, just wrap them in aluminum foil or waxed paper and store them in the refrigerator. The jellied carrot salad and party fruit sherbet can also be prepared well ahead. Spoon the sherbet into paper cups and put the cups into the freezing compartment of the refrigerator, with the control set for fast freezing. This way there will be no last-minute spooning necessary. Return the refrigerator control to normal after the desert has frozen firm so it won't be too hard to manage for the youngsters. They'll like this softer texture better, too.

Animal and arrowroot crackers are a good choice to serve with the desert. But if you do want to do some home baking, make a simple sponge cake. Rich cakes are taboo for toddlers.

Party Fruit Sherbet*
Animal and Arrowroot Crackers or Sponge Cake

JELLIED CARROT SALAD

Ingredients: 2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin, 2 tablespoons cold water, ½ cup water, 1 chicken bouillon cube, ¼ cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 can strained or junior carrots.

Method: Sprinkle gelatin over cold water to soften. Heat water and bouillon cube, stirring to dissolve cube; when very hot add softened gelatin and stir until gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Stir in orange juice, lemon juice, and strained or chopped carrots. Pour into molds and chill until firm. Unmold before serving. Makes 3 servings.

Note: For a more substantial dish mold mixture in rings and pile creamed cottage cheese in center just before serving.

PARTY FRUIT SHERBET

Ingredients: 2 cans strained plums with tapioca, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ cup sugar, 2 egg whites.

Method: Add lemon juice and sugar to strained plums and stir well. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold in. Pour into refrigerator freezer tray and partially freeze. Remove to chilled bowl, and beat until smooth. Spoon into individual paper cups, set in freezer tray lined with waxed paper and freeze until firm. Makes 6 servings.

Allow Baby To Set His Schedule

For his own best development a child should be allowed to unfold in the ways natural to him and yet be helped to fit into his family and his society. Each child is a unique individual with his own ways of growing, feeling and learning.

Yet, all children are enough alike so that authorities who study them closely are in a position to make general statements that apply to any one child's growing, feeling, and learning. As a consequence of their having learned a great deal about children, they recommend that children be permitted to regulate themselves as far as possible when it comes to eating, sleeping, and toilet training. No child should be forced to live according to a rigid schedule that might be suitable for somebody else.

Given an opportunity, he will soon establish his own routine.

When the child's needs do not coincide with his family's customs, he should be given extra consideration, is the modern advice. It might be better for him to eat by himself, or he might be helped by a snack to wait for the family meal.

A toddler can join his family at 7 o'clock dinner, if that is what they want. However, in this case, his mother will have to plan his whole day accordingly, giving him a long afternoon nap and a late snack.

Or a toddler can be in bed by six if his parents feel that is best. In that case, his nap must come early in the day and he may need no afternoon snack.

Between early infancy and about two years, babies sleep on schedule, but the schedules change often. They sleep [illegible] wake him [illegible]

A good eating [illegible] muscles [illegible] well.

There should not be [illegible] excitement just before bed [illegible] Give a word of warning [illegible] A story, a prayer and a goodnight kiss help the child go to sleep. Sleeping garments should be comfortable, the mattress firm, the room airy and reasonably quiet.

If your child gets up after you have tended to all his needs, put him back firmly but pleasantly. Don't let him prolong his excursions from bed, and don't make a fuss about them. They will pass when he learns that he must stay in bed at bedtime. If he is frightened in the night, he needs reassurance from you. Let him have a night light until you can eliminate the fear through play, stories and teaching him to manage himself in the dark.

IMPORTANT PLANS

"If you are planning for one year, sow grain; 10 years plant trees, but when planning for 100 years, grow men," says a Chinese proverb.

Educator Eyes Problem Of Delinquency

Cites Need of Proper Balance Between Home and School

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
Associated Press Writer

Parents and teachers concerned with delinquency might do well to develop the moral and spiritual education and life of their children.

Dr. Jacob I. Harstein, director, Graduate School, professor and head of the Departments of Education and Psychology at Long Island University, believes "that in seeking to realize this all important goal of a moral and ethical life it is most important that a proper balance be established between the home and the school. In our enthusiasm to accomplish the proper education of the children entrusted to our care we educators have too often taken on too much. We have overlooked at times that the single most important educational agency is still the home."

At times, he says, it appears as if we have forgotten that the school was created to perform certain specialized functions as the home found itself lacking in those respects. "However, the home continues as the cradle of man and his most important shelter through life, and as the basic institution of society. It is the home that lays the foundation for moral and ethical values and which should serve as the laboratory for the further practice of what the child is taught in school. Attitudes, appreciations and values are developed gradually and very frequently subtly and even unconsciously, by example, by experience, and by practice."

Home's Vital Influence

Instead of readily assuming so much responsibility for the behaviour of children, says Dr. Hartstein, educators ought to focus their attention on the home. "If we do that we will recognize immediately that our function must be a dual one. We must educate not only the children but also the parents and the children's relatives and work closely with the other agencies in the child's and the parents' environment."

Harmonious relations with parents must be established, he says. And, if the "mountain will not come to Mohammed, Mohammed must go to the mountain. Like the prophets of old, if necessary, we should go and teach in the market place, where, when, and how we can reach those parents. The newspapers, the magazines, the radio and television should all be harnessed in the interests of this all-important goal. A healthy home, mentally and emotionally, not only means healthy children but also healthy adults, just as the reverse is true."

Obviously, concludes Dr. Hartstein, much emphasis should be given education for family life and preparation for parenthood, but until the preventive job can be done effectively, we should work hard at the education of those not so equipped. Says he:

"Much has been said in recent years and a lot has been done in bringing school and community, and parents and teachers closer together. The beginning has been made. Much work still remains to be done."

Nursery Furnishings Can Be Chosen For Years of Use

By MAXINE LIVINGSTON
Family Home Editor, Parents' Magazine

Once, it was an accepted, and understandable, fallacy to think of the nursery as a "temporary" room for the new baby—a room usable for only a short time, and which was designed to serve the limited needs of a tiny infant.

But in recent years, with the necessity for long-range planning to avoid waste, and to make use of every inch of available space, mothers are taking a practical point of view in furnishing the nursery, and are realizing that a nursery which is planned to grow and expand as the child for which it is planned grows, is a practical room.

The frilly, lacy bassinette, usable only for about four months at most, is being generally discarded in favor of a crib in which the baby can sleep from the moment he is brought from the hospital and until he is three or four years old. Then, as an indication that he is getting to be a big boy, he is transferred to a youth or junior bed. Now there are even dual-purpose beds available which can be converted from crib to bed simply and quickly.

More Economical

You can also follow this modern, and more economical method of equipping the nursery in buying chests, wardrobes and accessories, for more and more they are being manufactured to be suitable from infancy through childhood. Shelf and storage units which can be "mixed and matched" just as can adult units, are usable well into high school days.

If necessary, start with a few good pieces that can be matched and added to as the child grows. The low toy shelves suitable for a toddler will serve later for books. And a sturdy, cleanlined toy chest can become a chest for bedding if its decoration or inadequate size do not limit its use.

High chairs or chair tables can often be converted to play tables for the older child.

In determining the color scheme for your nursery, you will want first to take into consideration the exposure of the room. Colors which create a cool atmosphere (blue, violet, blue-green and white tinted with these colors) are best suited to sunshiny rooms that face south or west. The warm colors (red, red and white, orange and white, and especially the yellow family) help to create a bright cheerful atmopshere and, therefore, are well suited to rooms that face north and east.

Choose Light Tints

Light tints make a room seem larger while darker tones counteract glare and make large space seem smaller. Traditional pink, blue and white, long popular for toys and decorative accents, are being replaced gradually with bright colors, more appealing to babies, and incidentally, you will find they add a gay lift to your spirits, too.

NEW BABY BIB

A new baby bib of clear plastic covers baby's shoulders as well as his chest. The neckline is especially designed to prevent binding and chafing, and there is a large roomy pocket to catch crumbs. The decoration comes in natural, fast colors.

Let Baby Sit Up When Ready

Mothers should put their baby's needs before their own wish to keep the baby clean and dressed up, according to Mollie Stevens Smart, author of the Preschool Group Study Programs sponsored by Parents Magazine.

"The baby who can sit should be allowed to sit on the floor or in a playpen," Mrs. Smart says. "He is getting ready to creep and needs freedom to move his whole body.

"He also needs to be kept warmer that when he stayed in his crib or carriage. Both boys and girls are free and warm in knitted suits or overalls and shirts.

"It is wise for the mother to respect her baby's needs most of the time, and to give in to her own wishes for a dressed-up baby for just a few hours of the day."

BONNET THAT GROWS

A bonnet that grows with baby is a new practical idea. Single drawstrings in front turns the trick. It comes in different materials.

LONGER LIFE SPAN

One more figure for the baby round-up, today's bouncing baby girl has a life expectancy of 71 years, the baby boy, 66 years.

Authorities See Trend Toward Larger Families

Seven Babies a Minute Delivered By Stork in Record Crop Last Year

Flipping tireless wings in the direction of forecasts and tradition, the diligent stork outdid all previous efforts last year with his round-the-clock missions, delivering more than seven babies per minute right through 1951.

Thanks to this industrious bird, Uncle Sam is dazedly looking around the nation's breakfast table at millions of new faces, while he ponders the problem of feeding, clothing, housing and eventually educating this exploding population. To put it another way, each morning last year saw 10,502 more newcomers to feed and clothe than the day before, each hour of the day and night, more than 437.

Latest (March 1952) calculations from the National Office of Vital Statistics, Federal Security Agency, estimate last year's total births as 3,833,0000. (Some quarters regard this as conservative, in view of earlier predictions that births would approach 4,000,000). It was the second time in the nation's history that live births had soared above 3,800,000, previous record year being 1947, when the total was 3,818,000. (Registered births in that year were 3,699,940).

Based on registered births alone, the 1951 birth rate rose to 24.5 per thousand population, an increase of 4.3 per cent over 1950. The baby boom last year was consistent, with each month running ahead of the corresponding month in 1950. December's 3 per cent increase was the lowest recorded for any month in 1951, contributing to the wrong guess on the 4 million expected births.

Families Getting Larger

More challenging to trend students than the latest peak, is the nation's noticeable swing to larger families. Despite a tapering off in marriages, births have remained high, chiefly because the persistent stork has confounded the experts by the number of his repeat visits. Second, third and a surprising number of fourth children joined thousands of families last year.

"Second in the family" births last year accounted for at least 1,170,000 babies, a rise of 91 per cent compared to similar births in 1940. The rate in that year was 18.6 per 1,000 women; present rate is 31.8. At least 620,000 arrivals were number three, or 86 per cent above 1940. Even fourth babies showed a notable gain, suggesting that a changing parental attitude along with improved finances has put out the welcome mat for more little feet.

Looking backward 40 years, larger families were taken for granted. In 1910 each mother was credited with 4.7 children, while the present rule is about 3.1. At census time Uncle Sam counted 16.3 million children under five, nearly 55 per cent more than in 1940. Of this 16 million, 13 million were more than a year old.

Cheerful Statistics

Happiest percentages of all show the continuing decline in the infant mortality rate, which dropped for the 15th straight year. Infant deaths last year occurred at the rate of 28.8 per thousand live births, a lowered rate that helped to swell the infant popultaion, notes the National Office of Vital Statistics. Present figures are a gratifying and sharp contrast to 47.4 per thousand in 1940 and 64.8 in 1930.

Vastly improved nutrition and health standards are part of the story but medical science can point produly to new techniques of prenatal care and to the modern proportion of hospital births. In 1935 only 37 per cent of live births in the United States were in hospitals, in comparison with 87 per cent in 1949. In 1940 the percentage had climbed only to 56.

In 1950 alone, there would have been 70,0000 more deaths of children under one year of age if the infant mortality of 1940 had continued unchecked. In all, the steady improvement in infant health since 1940 has resulted in saving the lives of 425,000 babies during the decade. ("The Facts of Life from Birth to Death," compiled by Dr. Louis I. Dublin from Metropolitan Life Insurance statistics).

Multiple Blessings

The same authority has rounded up records of multiple births in the United States during 1941-47 in which at leats one child was born alive. In those years there were 1 set of twins for every 95 deliveries, 1 set of triplets for every 9,900 deliveries and 1 set of quads for every 600,000 deliveries. In peak year 1947 alone, there were 38,286 sets of twins, 340 sets of triplets and 4 sets of quadruplets.

(Just the spot for a reminder that triplets require anywhere from 360 to 400 diapers a week, or more than 50 a day, Sundays included). A threesome gets fed in triplicate too, which is said to require patience, agility and a bumper supply of baby foods.

For a small fee, a Mother can take out twin insurance—before the third month.

More Noses Counted

The proportion of babies without birth certificates was reduced by almost three-quarters between 1940 and 1950. Of every 100 babies born in 1940, seven were not registered. In 1950 only two in 100 were not registered, or 80,000 out of well over 3½ million babies born alive. Nowadays a birth certificate is termed a "deed to citizenship," often proving the right to collect insurance, obtain a passport, inherit property.

Ease Stress At Meal Time

An important point of difference between current baby feeding and that of 25 years ago is the emphasis, today, on the emotional aspects of feeding. The approach a mother uses in feeding her baby is now recognized as being just as important as what she feeds him.

Careful consideration of this newly emphasized phase of infant care is urged upon mothers by Blanch M. Stover, Parents Magazine Food Editor.

The choice of foods influences his physical development, but the amount of love and security he is given at feeding time affects his mental and emotional growth.

Thus, although a baby may be bottle-fed, his mother is advised to hold him in her arms so that he will have the same close contact with her as a breast-fed infant.

When she begins giving him solids, she is urged not to force him since early unhappy experiences with food often produce a nervous child with poor feeding habits.

Instead, it is suggested that she offer new food calmly and casually, a little at a time, and at the beginning of the meal when the baby is hungry and more likely to accept it.

In this way, he acquires a liking for the new tastes and grows up to associate mealtimes with pleasant feelings.

NOTHING LIKE HIM

Your baby is really something special and it's true there is nothing in the world like him. So don't worry when he doesn't walk or talk or teeth according to accepted schedules. Every baby has his own personal schedule. Whether he is early or late is no sign of intelligence or future physical ability.

Babies Need Free Hand In Feeding Habits

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

National Baby Week is the accepted time to turn the spotlight on the eating habits of the nation's big brigade. Almost 3,700,000 new arrivals were welcomed in 1950. No wonder they rate a special week.

Most important venture in the life of the almost-a-year set is learning to use a spoon. It's grand, gay sport to try out that fascinating utensil—and not care where the food lands. But if mothers are patient and let a little experimentation go on, eventually young taste buds will win out, and the strained squash or sweet potato will land straight where it's supposed to go.

When your baby tries out his spoon in both hands, let him follow his own inclinations. Shifting back and forth from hand to hand is quite natural for a young adventurer at mealtime.

Baby's first spoon should, of course, have a small round bowl and a short handle. Usually a baby enjoys feeding himself a spoonful of food in between the ones his mother offers him. But babies differ; some small fry are ready to learn to feed themselves long before others. Watch for signs; encourage but don't urge; allow enough freedom, but at the same time do a little helpful guiding when it's needed—and pretty soon he'll be spooning up his favorite strained fruit or smooth orange pudding like an old hand at the eating game.

The Sacramento, Calif., city library has installed a drive-up book return box into which motorists may return books without leaving their cars.

Bathroom Not Unsafe, Plumbers Maintain

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Theres' been much talk about the bathroom being the most dangerous room in the home but the plumbers say it isn't so.

Ed J. Massino, president of the Wisconsin Master Plumbers Association, says insurance company statistics show only 3.5 per cent of all home accidents occur in the bathroom, compared with 30 per cent in the kitchen-dining area, 18 per cent in living-sleeping quarters and 12 per cent on steps and stairs.

The other household accidents happen in the yard, basement, utility room, attic or garage, he said.

SAFE PEDICURE

It's safer to cut baby's finger and toe nails when special "ball-pointed" scissors or clippers are used. Get them with a case, so that when they are not in use there will be no chance for injury.

LOOSEN CLOTHES

Be sure clothes worn by infants are loose enough to be comfortable and you will have eliminated a certain cause of irritability. Remember they can't explain themselves. You must anticipate.

No Need For Worry If Baby Appetite Falls

Don't worry if your baby sometimes doesn't take all his formula, or if your small child seems to have an occasional falling off of appetite, advise the editors of Parents' Magazine.

Children, like adults, are not always equally hungry and do not like all foods equally well.

Furthermore, their appetites change as they develop and grow.

Provide a comfortable seat in a quiet, attractive place for the baby's meals. Pretty, colorful dishes and bibs make the meal more enjoyable. Small servings should be given, with more if it is requested.

Some children like variety in their meals, and most eat better if their food is varied in flavor, color and texture.

Introduce new foods with only a taste at first, and never urge a child to eat. If he genuinely dislikes some foods, don't force him to eat them. Milk and other essential foods can be offered in ways which will make them acceptable if they are not enjoyed in their natural form.

A year old baby has a tremendous appetite, but it falls off as he approaches his second birthday.

This is the time when most parents begin to worry and to make an issue of eating. And that is how feeding problems begin!

The first technicolor motion pictures ever taken of the inside of the living heart have contributed new knowledge about the functioning of that vital organ.

Higher Rent Problem Neatly Solved

DETROIT (UP) — Detroit's common council has decided to do what a lot of tenants would like to do when the rent goes up — tear the building down.

When owners of a building which houses three city departments told the city council that the rent was going to jump from $47,000 to $96,000 annually, the council started condemnation proceedings.

The site was wanted anyway as part of a new civic center development.

SHAPING BONNET

Have you tried shaping a freshly laundered baby bonnet over a padded bowl to dry? The padding not only absorbs part of the moisture but also allows for shaping of individual styles.

FROWNED UPON

Devices designed to discourage baby from thumbsucking are generally frowned upon since they only cause frustration. Better to offer baby some other form of satisfaction.

HELP FOR MOTHERS

Many diaper services carry their help for mother beyond the business of supplying the basic need. They also have their own periodical of advice to mothers on rearing infants, called "Baby Talk."

DON'T TAKE CHANCE

You might save money if you hand down shoes from one child to another in your family, but you risk running your children's feet. Shoes take the shape of the foot on which they are worn, and can be harmful to others.

THE TIMING ON THIS, from the viewpoint of public relations, was horrible. It was made public at 5 p.m., too late for afternoon papers and too complex to be of much good to morning papers.

Next the President, answering a question at a news conference, gave his opinion on a President's power to seize newspapers. He could have said "no comment" or taken his time. Instead, he bounced out a reply. The reaction was terrible.

The criticism and needling must have irritated the President more than he's willing to admit for once more at a news conference he tried to explain presidential powers. The result was just as bad.

This time, to illustrate his powers, he said he sent an ultimatum to Stalin. A few hours later his White House aides had to explain he didn't mean an ultimatum but a diplomatic note to the Moscow government.

Then the President's chief representative in court, Assistant Atty.-Gen. Holmes Baldridge, went so far in insisting the President has unlimited powers that even some Truman supporters in Congress were outraged.

The White House's public relations in the steel dispute haven't been planned. They've been ad libbed.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK

YOU COULDN'T TELL from the daintiness with which some of the dinner-jacketed men around me last Saturday night sipped their Petite Marmite Henry IV soup, that they had police, prison and mayhem records longer than a Thanksgiving grocery list.

There were no latter day Scarfaces to distinguish the muscle men from labor leaders beside me—leaders who have told the mob to stay away from legitimate unions or find themselves in the river.

We had all come to eat sliced prime sirloin at the annual dinner-dance of the Joseph P. Ryan Association, honoring the man so frequently attacked (by this columnist too) as leader of the nation's toughest, most criminally infested union—Joseph P. Ryan, head of the AFL longshoremen.

It wasn't the steak or the Bombe Praline with Whole Fresh Strawberries which got me off my chair and cheering with the others when Joe got off a three-minute speech. Earlier, I had learned that this week Joe will tell 1952's remnants of a still lethal Murder, Inc., to get off the Eastern piers.

And in those three minutes Joe delivered a sentence I believe the rest of the country must get. Joe Ryan said bluntly—there's a lot more labor corruption in other industries than there ever was on the waterfront.

AND HE'S RIGHT.

There are some of us who are weary with the piousness of national union chiefs who love to burn out Joe's pants because of crime on the waterfront, but who sanctimoniously refuse to fight a desperately evil, all-powerful, political and racketeering coalition between the mobs and some of the most influential labor leaders.

They'll treat Joe's dockwalloping union as a second class citizen. They'll pontificate in high councils over the need for progressive political action this year by labor—and then blandly ignore recent thefts of sums as large as $90,000 a throw.

There is one such midwest labor chief who talks of saving the U.S. government from Gen. Eisenhower, or Taft, or Kerr or Russell—and looks the other way when one of his food worker leaders lifts $90,000 from the treasury and juggles the books so it looks like the union local paid $50,000 more for some real estate.

There is another union so sensitive to criticism that it has charged at least 150 political leaders and writers to my knowledge with being anti-labor because of such criticism. Yet it has not cleaned out the machine of a corrupt vice president whose latest take was $90,000 in shakedowns from employers. And this union has provided advisers to Presidents of this U.S.

THERE IS ANOTHER union, the AFL's United Auto Workers (not to be confused with the CIO's), which has issued a charter to men with public records whose pickets mob a garage and scream at the businessmen who operate these places:

"Come on out on the street and we'll beat your brains out . . . we'll destroy your business if you don't recognize us . . . This is operation—cancer; if you don't recognize us you'll get worse than cancer."

These New York pickets of the AFL's auto union which has its national headquarters in Milwaukee, have at the same time lewdly threatened to attack non-strikers' wives and beat their children. Is this unionism?

Apparently federal district attorneys around the country have finally decided it is not. In the Southern Federal District of New York, U.S. Atty. Myles Lane got Department of Justice orders some weeks ago to call in all Fed-D.A.'s and agencies. The mobs have to go, he warned.

Special grand juries have been sitting secretly, probing labor racketeering. The hope is that these investigating juries may run away from the federal prosecutors. There is actually no chance that the federal offices in many cities will move—they are too closely allied with those they're supposed to probe. And that's no secret to Washington circles.

SO LAST SATURDAY night I found myself listening more kindly to Joe Ryan. The chips are down and he's fighting.

Some day this week he and all the other AFL waterfront unions will meet at a temporary headquarters of the newly chartered AFL Maritime Trades Department out in the AFL's Seafarers' hall in Brooklyn, right in the heart of the toughest mob streets of the land.

That afternoon they'll complete strategy for the showdown with the notorious Tony Anastasio, who actually has set up his own longshoremen's union to control private and Army piers.

Mr. Ryan shows courage.

Now how about those pious labor leaders who have been criticizing him?

Bidding Wife Goodbye

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

HOW TO SAY GOODBYE to your wife in the morning?

More and more thoughtful Americans believe this is the crucial matrimonial problem of modern times. At least I sometimes get that impression after listening to wives discuss the subject.

All agree that their husbands, thoughtful though they may be on other occasions, have neglected the art of delivering the daily farewell.

"My husband is in a fog from the time he gets up until he goes out the door," one wife complained. "Sometimes I wish he would even beat me—anything to show he realized I was alive."

Another wife objected to the peck on the cheek her mate gave her enroute to his coat and hat.

"There is no greater insult than an absent-minded kiss," she affirmed.

Several more wives groused about the silent treatment accorded them by husbands with a chronic habit of reading the newspaper at breakfast.

One wife said that whenever her husband laughed at something he was reading and she asked him what was funny, he just looked up with glazed eyes and said, "Who?"

THE BASIC TROUBLE in these situations appears to be that wives feel they are doomed to another lonely day in the home while hubby is off to another gay gallop at the office. The husbands, on the other hand, don't intend to be thoughtless. They simply aren't awake yet. No man ever really comes to his full senses before noon.

But if a fellow can do his work all morning at the office while half-asleep, there is no reason why he can't train himself to give his wife a convincing goodbye in the same condition before leaving home. It just takes a little training. Look at a horse—he can sleep standing up.

The first thing to decide is what kind of a goodbye will really impress your wife. Then practice doing it until it becomes automatic.

Young wives like the robust romantic touch. If you have one of these, simply wipe the egg from your mouth, bend her backward over the breakfast table, kiss her fervently and murmur—"Till dusk."

Naturally the spinal columns of middle-aged wives might crack under this treatment — or your own might, if you are a middle-aged husband. Perhaps, if you fall in this category, it would be simpler merely to grasp both her hands and say fondly, "Life wouldn't be the same without you, hon."

ANOTHER SOLUTION is to sit down and—between gulps of coffee—write her a simple boyish love letter telling her how much she really means to you. A short one will do—four or five pages. If you don't have time to do that in the morning, write it the night before after she falls asleep. Then pin it in her hair curlers so she'll find it as a surprise when she awakes.

This might seem like pretty much of a chore the first few years, but after that the letters will come easier and easier.

There is one other method to cope with the problem of the morning matrimonial parting, and more and more men are find it highly satisfactory.

"I just stay home now and let my wife go to work," explained one husband. "That gives her the problem of saying goodbye to me. And you know what? Some mornings she acts as if she hardly knows I was there."

"Bum's Rush" Party

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK

SOME WEEKS AGO, at great personal sacrifice, I bowed to a draft (the window sticks) and announced my candidacy for the presidency on the conservative anarchist ticket.

This is the enlightened, forward-looking political party dedicated to throwing out the current set of rascals in government and getting an entirely new set of rascals in their place come next November. The conservative-anarchists are dedicated to throwing out bums, not bombs.

The basic belief of this party is that no politician is perfect but it takes a newly-elected one longer to find the cash box.

From time to time, I aim to discuss various planks in the platform, built entirely of slippery elm (not a red wood splinter in the lot). Today, the candidate of the conservative-anarchists comes out unequivocalby and for-square for the extension of the Brannan Plan (farm subsidies) to the coffee planter of Brazil.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has just recommended that Congress peg support prices at a flat 90 per cent of parity on such farm commodities as corn, wheat cotton, rice, peanuts and tobacco. And that ain't alfalfa, as the hay farmer said.

Since World War II, the Brazilian coffee kings, with the aid of faithful henchmen in the U. S. A., have more than doubled the price of coffee to the American consumer.

THE BRAZILIAN coffee barons, who never had it so good, are once more finagling to boost the price of their product. The United States buys one billion and a half pounds of Brazilian coffee per annum, by far the largest percentage of the crop.

The present price of Brazilian coffee, under elaborate trade agreements, is fifty - three and three-fourths cents per pound at the U. S. landing docks, or more than the consumer paid for a good pound of retail coffee until the end of World War II.

Now the coffee barons want to up the price, just how much is uncertain. The only thing for sure is that the boost will be plenty. The Brazilians are aware that there is stiff consumer resistance to coffee at its present price, and threat of boycott if the price skids above the dollar mark.

But the Brazilian barons have it all figured out nicely. Old Uncle Sam can subsidize their coffee. The old gentleman can absorb the increase, pay for it out of tax money and still let his nieces and nephews have coffee under a dollar. The Brazilians are just crazy to get in contact with the Brannan Plan or Fort Knox.

AS THE PRESIDENTIAL candidate of the Conservative-Anarchist party, I think this is a dandy idea. It will accomplish any number of beneficial and laudable results. For example, it would

(1) Cement the good neighbor policy, and allow all Brazilian coffee kings to continue to live in Paris, thereby strengthening French finances.

(2) Raise American taxes.

(3) Perhaps strengthen the determination of the poor dumb-sucker American tax-payer to revolt and throw the present rascals out.

(4) A new set of rascals will tell the coffee barons where they can go, and it won't be to Paris.

(5) The French will have to begin collecting their own taxes.

(6) Americans, suddenly freed of at least some of their headaches, won't have to drink so much coffee. The market will be glutted and the price will fall, thereby returning coffee to the status of pleasure rather than a luxury.

This is the kind of clear thinking and swift action which will continue to distinguish the conservative-anarchist party in its solution of national problems. A vote for Inez Robb is a vote for Inez Robb. I thank you.

Soviets Ground MIGs After Plane Attack

Airliner Incident Brings Big 4 Protest, Red Countercharge

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians grounded nearly all their fighter planes in the eastern zone of Germany today—an obvious result of the shooting attack by two MIG jets on an Air France airliner.

Soviet officers told the four power air safety center that training flights were conducted this morning only in one area of Saxony.

No flights were posted for the major jet bases at Elstal, Schoenfeld, and Dallgow nor for half a dozen smaller fields.

Flying activity was limited to the Koethen base—but that was precisely the spot where the two Soviet fighters pumped cannon shells and machinegun bullets into the French plane Tuesday, wounding two German passengers and nicking two French crewmen.

The cutback in the months of daily aerial maneuvers was declared on a day that was sunny and clear—perfect for training flights.

The Allies and the Russians swapped contradictory charges about the incident Tuesday night.

A stiff note from the three Allied high commissioners declared the French plane was flying in the proper corridor established by four-power agreement and the attack on it was "unwarranted" and "outrageous."

It demanded punishment of the Soviet fighter pilots and compensation for damages and injuries.

A Russian counter protest charged the French plane was far off the corridor, headed toward Leipzig, and ignored the fighters' signals to land. It said the Soviet planes then fired "warning shots" across its bow.

Three United States Air Force men inspect a bullet-riddled Air France DC-4 passenger plane that was machine-gunned and shelled by two Russian jet fighters over the Soviet zone on a flight from Frankfurt to Berlin, Germany. The American, British and French commandants sent joint protests to the Soviet commandant.

Incident Opens Spring Jitters in Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States officials pondering reasons for Tuesday's Russian fighter-plane attack on a French airliner agree on one thing: it opened the 1952 season of spring jitters in Europe.

Officials here were considering two possible—and opposite—explanations:

1. That the Soviet deliberately staged the attack as a terror tactic, to spread fear and tension in Europe and thereby, perhaps, slow down the unification of Western Europe.

2. That the whole thing was unplanned, perhaps the result of overzealousness on the part of trigger-happy fighter pilots sent up to check on the airliner.

To top everything, the light of his life, Geraldine, and her mother come to visit. Geraldine flirts with everyone including Mr. Maxwell, and right in front of Mrs. Maxwell. Wilbur is ready to give up everything for the sake of his love. Mr. Jones, the Maxwell's guardian angel, steps in just in time and saves the situation.

The cast of this second comedy includes Peter DeWolfe, Judy Stein, Helen Kannel, Craig Anderson, Sally Schneider, Sally Waddell, Ann Shepherd and John Barnhart.

Two Women Injured In Auto Collision

Two Sycamore women suffered lacerations Tuesday night when their car collided with a truck at the intersection of a county road and Route 231 in Wyandot County, the state highway patrol reported.

Mrs. Mary Fadley of Sycamore was driving north on Route 231 at 8:30 p.m. The front end of her car struck the left side of a truck driven by Stanley Stever, 51, of Sycamore, who was going west on the county road. Both vehicles were considerably damaged.

Mrs. Fadley and Mrs. Nellie Stewart, a passenger in her car, were taken by a passing motorist to the office of a Sycamore physician. Stever was charged with failing to obey a stop sign and was cited to appear before Mayor Stubb of Sycamore Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

A car driven by Donald E. Mathias, 26, of Morral struck the rear of a truck driven by Brady A. Meadows, 20, of near Morral today at 7 a.m. as both were driving east on Route 231, about one and one-half miles west of Route 23. The front end of the car was damaged considerably. Damage to the truck was slight.

Mathias was charged with reckless operation and was cited to appear in Marion Municipal Court Saturday.

Five other arrests were reported by the patrol.

Thomas Shelton, 26, of Carrollton, Mich., was charged with speeding on Route 23 at 11:10 p.m. He posted bond of $35 for appearance in Municipal Court today.

Taylor York, 21, of Steubenville was fined $10 and costs by Mayor E. R. Tilton of Ashley when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without a driver's license. He was arrested at 7:30 p.m. on Route 42.

Earl C. Levering, 52, of Mt. Vernon pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to a charge of speeding. He was arrested on Route 23 at 1:40 p.m. His fine and costs were suspended by Judge W. Dexter Hazen.

Frank Cassel, 31, of Royal Oak, Mich., was fined $14 and costs when he pleaded guilty before Mayor G. G. Wagner of Carey to a charge of speeding. He was arrested at 8:10 p.m. on Route 23.

Steel

weighing opposing arguments since last Friday, declared in his 14-page decision:

"There is no express grant of power in the Constitution authorizing the President to direct his seizure. There is no grant of power from which it reasonably can be implied. There is no enactment of Congress authorizing it."

Pine said Congress could pass a law immediately to "protect the nation from this threatened disaster"—the steel strike.

But in the absence of such a law, the judge said:

"I believe that the contemplated strike, if it came, with all its awful results, would be less injurious to the public than the injury which would flow from a timorous judicial recognition that there is some basis for this claim to unlimited and unrestrained executive power . . . ."

Truman, in directing Secretary of Commerce Sawyer to take over and operate the steel mills, had said he was acting "by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the United States, and as commander in chief of the armed forces."

Minutes after Pine's decision was handed to a crowd of clamoring reporters, Murray announced that the steelworkers had no choice but to "cease work immediately," with the usual arrangements for safeguarding steel company property.

Pickets appeared at the giant mills—first in the Chicago area, then at Pittsburgh and other centers, of the billion-dollar industry—within the hour.

At Pittsburgh, Walter Klis, president of Steelworkers Local 1227, declared:

"This is it. We are prepared to stay out indefinitely."

Klis added: "This is all the result of Congress not having guts enough to back up Truman. If this wasn't a political year the contract would have been settled long ago."

White House Silent

From the White House, in the wake of Pine's decision, came nothing but silence.

The administration had sought, in a last-minute "clarifying" memo filed with the judge, to back away from the position taken by Holmes Baldridge, assistant attorney general, in oral arguments on the steel companies' plea for an injunction.

Baldridge contended at first that the Constitution puts no limit whatever on the President's powers although it does limit the authority of Congress and of the courts—the other branches of goverment. He argued that the President was responsible only to the people — who can, through Congress, impeach him or who can register disapproval of his policies at the polls.

Truman himself disavowed this theory in a letter made public by the White House soon after Baldridge offered the argument in court. And Tuesday Baldridge himself said in a memo that he didn't mean to contend presidential powers went beyond those granted by the Constitution.

Government officials in general were no more communicative than the White House about Pine's decision.

Secretary Sawyer said only that he would "of course take no action contrary to the court's findings."

Ohio's Steel Plants Closed Down Tight

By The Associated Press

Operations in Ohio's steel plants were almost nil today. CIO steelworkers are striking after a federal judge held that President Truman was not empowered to seize the industry.

The mills were returned to private owners Tuesday afternoon Soon after the ruling, Ohio steel plants started shut-downs.

About 17,000 CIO United Steel workers walked from steel mills in West Virginia's northern panhandle and adjoining areas of Ohio. Production Chief George Hanson of Wheeling Steel reported severe damage to blast furnaces, coke ovens and other equipment at the firm's Steubenville plant.

The sudden walkout left unattended equipment which should be allowed to cool slowly.

ROUND-UP TIME ON THE HIGHWAY. Motorcycle Officer D. R. Sheldon spied this bull wandering down the highway in Los Angeles. After dismounting from his motorcycle and borrowing several ropes from spectators he gave chase afoot through neighbors yards and strawberry patches; finally lassoing the bull and tying him to a utility pole. A heifer, which was wandering down the road with the bull, defied capture and finally wandered into a corral where she waited for her owner to come and claim her.

Murray Sets Up Headquarters In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Silvery-haired Philip Murray set up steel strike headquarters in a downtown Pittsburgh skyscraper today to direct his CIO United Steelworkers in what may be the last great labor crisis in his career.

Murray, now 65, plans to step down from active labor leadership this year. He is obviously determined to hold out in the current strike until the steel industry accepts the wage settlement recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board.

Before boarding a train at Cleveland where he made an appearance on an NBC television show, Murray said Tuesday night the next move is up to the steel companies. He declared:

"I think the companies should meet with us and negotiate further on the basis of the recommendations of the WSB."

Murray declined to say what strategy he will follow if the government obtains a stay on the order which ruled out governmental seizure of the steel industry.

He told newsmen he thought the union has complied with the Taft-Hartley act. Under the law, the President could have sought an injunction which would have delayed the walkout 80 days.

Murray pointed out that his union has delayed the start of the strike four times since the original Jan. 1 deadline for a period of almost three months.

Nation's

marked the excitement at the strike's start Tuesday night.

The first unemployment in allied industry was reported by U. S Steel which said all its coal miners had been furloughed.

At Pittsburgh, a spokesman for the U. S. Steel Corp. said:

"We're 100 per cent down so far as steel-making is concerned. All of our coal mines are down. We're working on the proper banking of blast furnaces. We're still negotiating for help from the union to accomplish this and getting some spotty co-operation in some places."

The work stoppage, third in steel since the end of World War II, began in Gary and South Chicago, Ind., within an hour after a federal judge nullified government seizure of the steel industry.

Like a chain of sputtering firecrackers stretched across the land, pickets popped up at plant gates everywhere. Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Buffalo, and Baltimore were among the first to report workers walking out.

Most of the scarfers, rollers, heaters and other steel mill workers waited until their local union offices received Murray's cease work order. But many of them dropped their tools and picked up their lunch boxes as soon as they heard of the court decision.

Reports Damage

Wheeling Steel Corp. was one of the few companies which reported damage to plant facilities as a result of the hasty leave taking of workers.

At Gary, Ind., a union spokesman indicated no effort was being made to safeguard the expensive iron and steel making furnaces which must be cooled slowly over a period of 24 to 48 hours to prevent damage.

Orville Kincaid, head of USW sub-district one, said at Gary that the union had made no arrangements with steel companies for banking furnaces. He added:

"We'll let them worry about that."

Murray instructed his men to arrange for stand-by operation of steel plants and most of the workers were glad to obey. They know that if furnaces were damaged, they would not have jobs to come back to for a long time after the strike ends.

Steel production sagged sharply but no one could say how much with plants still in the process of shutting down. The industry has been producing at peak capacity, making about two million tons of ingots—raw steel—a week. Much of it was being used for defense and essential civilian purposes.

Few Unaffected

Only a handful of steel companies are unaffected by the strike. They employ about 24,000 men. They are firms which already signed with the union or which do not bargain with the United Steelworkers.

The biggest steel producer in the lot is Kaiser Steel of California which signed a contract along the lines of the WSB recommendations.

The major producer which does not deal with the USW is Weirton Steel Co., a major producer of tin plate and other steel products. Weirton Steel has a contract with an independent union which covers all its 11,000 production workers in Weirton, W. Va., and Steubenville, O.

Oil

Long lines of cars were reported at filling stations in Detroit and other cities Tuesday night before the strike deadline of 12:01 a.m. local time.

Some shortages of natural gas are anticipated through the idling of Pipeline crews.

Natural Gas Hit

The Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co., supplier of natural gas to more than 400 communities in eight states, will cut down on its supply.

A spokesman said supervisory employes would man compressor stations to keep the supply going to Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan.

The East Coast also is in for a shortage of natural gas piped from the Midwest and Southwest, OWIU officials stated.

Cities Service officials said supply to the Chicago area could be affected if its daily intake from Kansas fields is curtailed.

O. A. Knight, president of the OWIU, said slightly less than half the nation's production of refined oil products will be cut off.

"Our union is immediately shutting down refineries with a daily production totaling approximately 2,200,000 barrels daily," he said. "Independent and AFL unions are expected to close refineries with a daily capacity of about 650,000 barrels daily."

Closing of certain pipelines probably will hamper additional refineries, extending the strike.

All shutdowns were reportedly orderly, with union personnel allowed to remain on hand until the job is completed. This is expected to take 72 hours in some places.

Picketing Reported

Some picketing was reported today, but it generally was held off until idling had become complete.

Union officials would not disclose exactly how many plants had been closed or their locations.

Texas and Oklahoma appeared among the most heavily struck states. At least seven Texas Gulf Coast refineries repotedly were out, including refining units of Magnolia Petroleum, Gulf, Texas and Atlantic oil and gas companies.

Four refineries were scheduled to go out in Oklahoma. About 11,000 union members and 4,000 clerks were affected in the East Chicago and Whiting, Ind., area. Plants of Cities Service, Sinclair, Shell and Texas companies were involved.

At Detroit, 500-600 oil workers struck at midnight and another 1,300 were standing by if authorized to join.

At San Francisco, a state conciliator said at the close of meetings Tuesday:

"They are very close together. If we are successful in reaching a settlement, it may set a pattern for the nation."

While 350 CIO workers at the Pan-Am Corp. refinery in El Dorado, Ark., joined the strike, another 600 union members at the Lion Oil Co. refinery stayed on the job pending another meeting today.

Union workers at the Phillips Petroleum refinery at Woods Cross Utah were allowed to remain on the job to protect equipment from flood waters.

The strike originally was set for March 3, but postponed three times by government request.

Production of petroleum products continues, with government needs being met first. Union officials said they do not believe the defense effort will be impaired.

Airliner

The search was spurred by hope that the plane may have been able to crash land somewhere on the barren plateau in mid-Brazil.

The double - decked Boeing Stratocruiser, a peacetime development from the B-29 Superfortress, was the first plane of its kind to be reported missing. It is powered by four 2800-horsepower engines

The powerful plane—named the Clipper Good Hope—had flown from Buenos Aires, Argentina, to Rio de Janeiro on the first leg of its "El Presidente" flight to the United States. It took off shortly after dark Monday night for Port of Spain, Trinidad, its only other scheduled halt before reaching New York.

It was due at Port of Spain at 9 a.m. EST yesterday, and carried enough fuel to stay in the air four hours beyond its scheduled flying time for the 2,600-mile trip to Trinidad.

ing for censure of the President and others for impeachment.

House Republicans want the resolutions sent to a judiciary subcommittee for prompt study. Democratic leaders have made it clear they would like to see the measures tabled.

Go-Slow Approach

GOP congressional leaders who asked not to be named said they were urging a go-slow approach to the impeachment idea, pending outcome of the government's approach appeal from Pine's decision.

Congress members who had assailed the President's April 9 seizure of the steel industry hailed yesterday's ruling as a great victory for constitutional liberties.

Sen. Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee and a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination: "I am not surprised. I have said that if the legal question of the President's seizure of the steel mills could ever be squarely raised, it would be hard to see how any court could decide in favor of the alleged 'inherent power' of the executive to seize private property."

Loan

A. Schulte of New York

Williams produced records to show that the Internal Revenue Bureau had ruled that the three could accept offers by the New York committee to settle for 10 cents on the dollar and charge off the remainder as non-business bad debts.

Denies Making Use of Ruling

Field said at Rancho Santa Fe Calif., where he is visiting, that he had never made use of an Internal Revenue Department ruling allowing him to deduct from his income tax an unpaid loan to the New York State Democratic Committee

Attorneys for the estate of Schulte, who died in 1949, said in New York that Schulte had received no tax benefits whatever from a loan to the Democratic committee

Reynolds, elder son of the founder of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., was reported in Europe. His attorney, Stratton Coyner, declined in Winston-Salem to comment or to say where Reynolds could be reached.

Rep. Byrnes (R-Wis), a member of the House tax scandal investigating committee, said he intended to demand an airing of Williams' allegations

Williams demanded that the Internal Revenue rulings be reversed and gift taxes be assessed against the three

"If the bureau doesn't act, then Congress must act," Williams told a reporter.

George said there might be some instances where such loans might be made by banks, but in this case losses would be charged off as regular business debts.

Fan Dancer Sally Rand Bares Secret

Nothing Else Though, She Testifies At State Board Probe

COLUMBUS (AP)—Sally Rand, the fan dancer, revealed her trade secret to the State Liquor Board Tuesday. But Sally argued she had revealed nothing else during her act.

She's always clothed during her act, but in such a way that she creates the illusion of being nude.

How does she do it? Sally explained she always wears a leotard, a garment used by acrobats to cover the torso. It is made of mousseline de soie, imported from Paris. It is a kind of lastex lace that looks like skin, she explained.

Sometimes she adds filmy panties and a brassiere. The garments are taped on. Sally said "there is no possible way I could remove these garments while dancing."

She appeared voluntarily before the board to try to disprove charges her fan dance was "lewd, indecent and immoral." The charges were filed against Tully V. Foster, owner of the Club Casablanca in Canton where Miss Rand appeared last Nov. 30, Dec. 1 and Dec. 2.

State liquor agents watched Miss Rand's act all three nights—then filed charges.

Sally didn't want to tell all. She tried to give the board a statement in writing, telling her secret. She didn't want the public to learn it.

"You wouldn't ask a magician to tell you how he pulls a rabbit out of a hat, would you," she asked.

But the board wanted Miss Rand to testify out loud. Board Chairman Frank M. Krebs told her "You are leading people to believe you were stark naked and have only fans to cover you.'"

"I might as well retire from fan dancing now that my secret is out," Sally said. "You can buy another night club or another license but you can not buy another career."

When the first horse-drawn "omnibus" appeared in Baltimore in 1844, the Baltimore Sun commented. "'They are quiet, handsome affairs, well fitted up, richly decorated, drawn by good horses and we believe driven by careful drivers."

Fire Destroys Barn on Union Fairgrounds

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE—A horse barn at the Union County Fairgrounds at Marysville was destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon. The 200-yard long building of wooden structure burned within about 40 minutes. Also lost in the fire were harness racing equipment and quantities of hay and straw stored in the barn.

Sheriff Walter Galloway was at the grounds investigating vandalism when he saw the fire breaking through the roof of the building. He turned in the alarm and took from the building the only horse stabled there.

Firemen were unable to save the building but prevented the fire from spreading to other buildings on the ground and also to a row of houses nearby.

The fairgrounds are located at the north end of Marysville. Fire loss was set at $20,000.

Press Firm Sets Record

Production Up At H-P-M of Mt. Gilead

MT. GILEAD—A new record in production and profits before taxes was set in the first quarter of 1952 at the Hydraulic Press Mfg. Co. at Mt. Gilead, G. B. Robinson, chairman of the board, reported today.

Shipments for the quarter were $3,223,105 which is the highest level attained in any quarter in the history of the company. Profits before taxes amounted to $519,295, but an estimated reserve for income tax of $361,000 reduced the net profit for the quarter to $158,295.

As a comparison, shipments for the first quarter of last year amounted to $1,970,760. Net profits before taxes were $195,575. Provision for federal taxes on income, amounting to $100,000 reduced the net profit for the quarter to $95,575.

Despite record-high shipments, the result of H-P-M's continuing expansion program, backlog and new business for 1952 remain at a healthy level, Robinson said.

This 75th anniversary year of the company, Robinson states, will undoubtedly be a record year, and it is anticipated that capacity operations will extend into the second quarter of 1953.

Net earnings before taxes for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1951, amounted to $1,193,656 which is an increase of 71 percent over 1950. After deducting $740,000 federal income and excess profit taxes, the final net for the year was $453,656 or an increase of only 13 per cent over 1950. Dividends to the common stockholders in 1951 amounted to 60 cents per common share plus a 10 per cent stock dividend.

The expansion program, started in 1950, is progressing satisfactorily, Robinson said. When completed, manufacturing space will be increased by 55,000 square feet for a total of 205,000 square feet. Approximately $800,000 was spent in 1951 for buildings and equipment with an anticipated $500,000 expenditure for 1952.

DEATH LEAP. Merle Bibbs, 38, Negro, father of four children, dramatically leaps to his death from atop a 110-foot grain elevator at the National Starch Products plant in Indianapolis, Ind., where he was employed. Thirty horrified spectators watched. Police and firemen spread nets and tried in vain for two hours to rescue him. Bibbs refused to come down and jumped so nets could not catch him. No explanation was given for his decision to leap.

Tale of Twelve Fifths

By FRANK TRIPP

Came April 4th and Paul Miller received a case of wine that started its epic journey in Paris on January 2. It did fairly well, getting to Rochester in four weeks. But it took eight weeks to move it across town.

The twelve bottles were two each of six different vintages of 1947, bottled by Jean Confuron, Premeaux par Nuits, Cote d'Or France. They were a gift from a Paris friend and all of the fuss and feathers had to do with the collection of 24 cents state tax and $1.33 U. S. customs.

More profitable to the government than the customs was the $3 storage charge for the two months that Paul was trying to get possession of his property. Persistence, a dozen letters, affidavits and phone calls, and he finally made it— with gratitude that wine improves with age.

The chronology of the transaction is an exhibit of the efficiency and dispatch with which the taxpayers' hired help serviced an ordinary guy and his 55-pound gift box of wine.

WHEN THE WINE arrived in New York on Jan. 26, instructions awaited that it be sent to Rochester, N. Y. in bond for customs clearance. It arrived in Rochester Feb. 6th. A phone call to Customs revealed that before anything further could happen the State Liquor Authority in New York City had to issue a permit so the owner could receive it.

Such a request went forward on Feb. 7. By Feb. 26 the State Liquor Authority got around to responding, sent a letter which was to be presented to the Commodities Tax Bureau in Rochester, which, upon payment of the state tax, would issue a release for the wine. That just had to do with the state's finger in the pie.

By March 6 the State Department of Finance 'roused and wrote: "The state tax on natural sparkling wine is 40 cents a gallon; on artificial sparkling wine, 20 cents a gallon; on still wine 10 cents a gallon. Twelve bottles of fifths equals 2.4 gallons." It was a figure-it-out-for-yourself answer. The surely definite thing was that the tax had to be paid —and not with postage stamps.

Paul hadn't had a look at his wine yet and whether it was natural, artificial or still he wasn't sure. He did know that it was still at the moment—still in government limbo.

FINALLY it was determined to be still in fact and the fabulous state tax was paid, all in one installment. It was 24 cents; just like the man so ponderously said: 2.4 gallons at 10 cents a gallon. "Well, what next?" asked Miller, who was hoping to get his wine by St. Patrick's Day.

It was early March by then, and all needed was for the State Tax Department in Rochester to notify the State Liquor Authority in New York that it had received 24 cents — on sextuple forms, no doubt—where-up the State Liquor Authority would notify the United States Customs collector in Rochester that the sovereign State of New York was satisfied and the U. S. Government could take over.

By March 20 Paul remembered his impounded wine again and called the Rochester Customs collector. No, the collector hadn't heard a word from the State Liquor Authority; which was reasonable enough. They'd only had since March 6 on the 24 - cent transaction.

THEN A SEMBLANCE of cooperation crashed the scene. In lieu of the missing letter, the Rochester collector would recognize the state's receipt for 24 cents if Miller would present it, and then the United States Government could begin to function.

This, however, entailed the filling out of three forms and having them notorized. When these had been inspected and approved maybe by the Attorney General himself, but not likely 'cause he was pretty busy with his own troubles about then; anyway on March 31 the duty on the poor old case of wine was detemined to be $1.33 and the government storage on same for two months $3.

On April 4, two months after it hit Rochester, the Railway Express Agency got possession of the wine again, delivered it to Paul's downtown office and collected $15.54 express and accumulated handling charges. Total cost to recipient of a kind friend's gift was $20.11.

"It better be good," said Paul as he lugged it home to Pittsford in his own car.

Mayor Issues Proclamation

May 17 Will Be Armed Forces Day

MAYOR HAROLD F. ROBINSON is shown above as he signs a proclamation stating that Saturday, May 17, will be observed in Marion as Armed Forces Day. Looking on, from left to right, are Lt. Col. S. H. Duerson, Engineer Corps, acting commanding officer of the Marion Engineer Depot; Melvin G. Weston, chairman of Armed Forces Day, and Major E. R. Dixon, Engineer Corps, Armed Forces Day project officer. The occasion will be observed in Marion with a parade Thursday, May 15, and open house at the Engineer Depot Saturday, May 17.

Saturday, May 17, has been declared Armed Forces Day in a proclamation signed by Mayor Harold F. Robinson.

According to Mayor Robinson's statement, the day is observed nationally because "it is appropriate and desirable that we devote one day each year to a public expression of respect for men and women who demonstrate their patriotic devotion to the nation by service in the armed forces of the United States."

Further plans for the observance of Armed Forces Day in Marion were made Tuesday night at a meeting of the planning committee in the Officers Club of the Marion Engineer Depot. A parade is scheduled for Thursday, May 15, and open house will be held at the Engineer Depot Saturday, May 17.

Taking part in the parade will be four bands, floats, military personnel, military equipment, veterans units and reserve units. The parade will start at 7:30 p.m. on E. Center St. at Baker St. and will march west, traveling through the West Towne section and disbanding at Park Blvd. This is a reversal of the west to east route followed by parades in the past.

A reviewing stand will be set up on E. Center St. at the Courthouse.

Visitors will be shown through buildings of the Engineer Depot all day during the open house May 17.

Melvin G. Weston is chairman of Armed Forces Day and Maj. E. R. Dixon, Engineer Corps, is Armed Forces Day project officer. Wendell Strong and Joe Inne are in charge of publicity.

A portion of Mayor Robinson's proclamation reads as follows: "I invite all groups of patriotic citizens, including veterans', women's, fraternal, educational, religious, commercial, labor, and industrial organizations, to participate, actively in the Armed Forces Day program in this community, to the end that we may join in honoring the Armed Forces and in emphasizing the direct relationship of each citizen to the nation's continuing effort for peace with freedom through the strength of a united people."

voting was a strictly Republican primary.

"Never before in the history of the Republican party has there been such a brazen attempt to secure the assistance of Democrats in selecting a Republican presidential nominee."

Eisenhower apparently carried all the major industrial cities and centers in Massachusetts. He had nearly a seven-to-one margin over Taft in Pittsfield, and was an easy winner in Attleboro, Everett, Waltham, Fall River and others.

Similarly, most of his delegates stepped into an early lead in the returns and were never headed.

Impressed By Meeting

The young Japanese was impressed with the Marion pre-primary meeting, which he said was the first he had attended in his 2½ years in this country. He plans to return to Japan this summer to teach in a school in Tokyo, where his mother is a teacher.

He declared that he hopes to instill in his students some of the theories of democracy he has learned while studying in the United States. "Democracy can not be brought in ready-made," he said, 'but must seep through to the people."

The speakers were introduced by George Schertzer, organization director of the Marion County Farm Bureau, who also introduced candidates.

Twenty-six of the 35 candidates for local, state and district officers were present at the meeting. Their names will appear for nomination on the primary ballot May 6. Each candidate was given a chance to speak briefly, and statements were read from six others who were unable to attend.

Music was provided by the Harding High School brass sextet. Members of Boy Scout Troop 2 and Explorer Post 2, both sponsored by the Edison PTA, led the pledge of allegiance to the flag, and served as ushers.

Members of the arrangements committee were Mr. Schertzer Clifford Welch, county chairman of the Democratic central and executive committee. Harold Patrick, county chairman of the Republican executive committee, and Mrs. J. E. Frew, president of the Marion League of Women Voters.

Belle Center Man Testifies In Nudist Case

DETROIT (AP)—A nudist case in federal district court was tangled in a legal zipper today

Counsel defending officers being sued for false arrest by a music teacher cited some bare facts of procedure that may throw the damage case out of court.

Edith Church 42, of Maumee O, who was arrested in a raid on a nudis camp near Monroe, Mich, is seeking $120,000 damages. She declared the incident caused her to lose a $4000-a-year teaching job and that her constitutional rights were violated

The defendants are state police Sheriff Ray Gensler of Monroe County, and former prosecutor Foster D. Luse, of Monroe County

Miss Church rested her case Tuesday afer a 71-year-old witness testified that one of the raiding officers ordered her to remove her clothes

The plaintiff's witness John A. Rubel, of Belle Center, O said Miss Church was wearing shorts and a halter when raiders swooped down on the camp in August of 1948

One of the officers Rubel said "Kept ordering her to 'take them off, take them off'"

Assistant State Attorney General Martin L Leacock sprang a surprise for the defense in moving for a directed verdict in favor of the defendants

Leacock uncovered a Michigan statute of limitations which says no action can be brought against sheriff's deputies more than two years after the event Miss Church filed her suit in February of 1951

George F Risk Jr attorney for Miss Church said he was not aware of the section until it was brought to his attention by the motion

"I'll give you time to study it," said Federal Judge Frank A. Picard, but it looks to me right now that you are out of court."

Simmons Posts Win In First Start; Phillies' Hopes Soar

Southpaw Hurler Holds Cubs To Seven Safeties

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cold and rain continued to paralyze baseball in the east and a strike threatened to black out a park in the west but followers of the Philadelphia Phillies could find no gloom anywhere today—Curt Simmons is back and he's in the groove.

The hard-throwing, 22-year-old lefthander, three weeks out of the Army, made his first major league start in 19 months Tuesday and proceeded to tame the Chicago Cubs with a smooth seven-hit performance, 8-2.

He didn't look any different from the trim, young southpaw whose blazing fast ball won 17 games for the Phillies and helped lead them to the National League pennant before Uncle Sam snatched him up in September, 1950.

Sawyer Pleased

Manager Eddie Sawer couldn't hide his pleasure and enthusiasm hit a new high in the Phillies' ranks.

Simmons' effectiveness was emphasized by the job he did on Frankie Baumholtz, the Cubs' rightfielder who had hit in 11 straight games and had carried a .422 percentage, the National League's highest, into the game. Baumholtz didn't get a smell of the ball in four times at bat.

In the season's first head-on collision of east and west, the favored Brooklyn Dodgers strengthened their grip on the National League lead by turning back the St. Louis Cardinals of the masterful clutch pitching of Preacher Roe, 4-1.

The Dodgers thus increased their lead to a game and a half over both Chicago and the Cincinnati Reds, who fell victim to the New York Giants at Cincinnati, 2-1.

Bucs Lose Again

In the other National League game Warren Spahn, the Boston Braves' crack lefty, nailed Pittsburgh tighter to the cellar by humbling the Pirates, 5-1, on five hits.

Only one game was played in the American League as unseasonable cold and wet grounds, which already have cost eastern clubs more than a quarter of a million dollars, forced three more postponements.

Postponed were the St. Louis Browns' debut against the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium, Chicago's game at Washington and Detroit's opening appearance at Boston. They'll try again today.

The single American League conflict was at Philadelphia and the Indians won, 21-9. The game was a wild slugfest in which the teams pounded outa total of 43 hits, 25 of them by the Indians. Bob Feller was the winning pitcher althoguh he gave up 18 safeties.

Elect President For Bucyrus League

BUCYRUS — Edward Schrier of the Schrier Cheese Co. has been elected president of the Bucyrus Men's Commercial Bowling League. W. Quaintance was named vice president; Gus Wenninger Jr., secretary, and R. Lutz, treasurer.

The league championship trophy was awarded to the Cooper Motor Sales team while W. Cosgray of the Cobey Manufacturing Co. team was given an individual award for having shown the greatest pin improvement during the season over his average at the season's outset.

FIRST SINCE 1930

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—When Jim Fridley connected safely in six consecutive trips to the plate Tuesday night it was the first time the trick was turned in the major leagues since May 14, 1950, when Johnny Hopp of Pittsburgh also went six-for-six.

Fesler Holds Tight Grip On Gopher Fans

Former OSU Coach Firmly Entrenched In Minnesota Post

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS (AP) — A note from up Minnesota way indicates that Wes Fesler is firmly established and doing O.K. as grid coach of the Gophers.

The former Ohio State All-America had a rough season in his 1951 inaugural, winning two along with six losses and two ties. He had exactly the same record at Ohio State in 1947, his first at the Buckeye helm, but two years later he tied for the Western Conference title and won over California in the Rose Bowl.

In his first season here his Ohioans scored 60 and allowed 150 points. At Minnesota his 1951 Gophers counted 162 and allowed 258—a boost of 102 on offense and 108 on defense.

Tough Chore

Genial Wes took over a tough chore at Minnesota, just as he did here, and the northern neighbors are looking for him to solve the situation as he did at Ohio State before resigning after the 1950 campaign.

The Minnesota newspapermen and fans, convinced Fesler is the answer to their gridiron problem, are stringing along with him in great shape.

Charley Johnson, erudite sports expert of the Minneapolis Star, had this to say in his column:

"Another spring football siege is underway at the University of Minnesota, and what a different picture it is from a year ago.

"When Wes Fesler decided to take charge of the Gophers he was faced with the strenuous task of rebuilding their gridiron fortunes from the bottom.

"Then he had on hand some promising graduates from the 1950 freshman squad and the hope that more yearlings would be available in the fall.

"Everything considered, Wes and his staff did a good hurry-up job of getting the squad ready for the 1951 schedule.

"Now, as he gets ready for the 1952 fall campaign, his system is well installed. He has won friends throughout the upper Midwest among high school players, coaches and football enthusiasts generally.

"This doesn't mean that Minnesota's fortunes will turn for the better this year. Freshmen can't play next fall. That means Wes must get along with the holdovers from 1951 and a few returnees from the service.

"However, Minnesotans feel that Fesler is on the right track and it's only a question of time before an improvement will come in the schools won-and-lost record.

"Wes' big job now is to mend the weak spots in the squad's defense that caused so much trouble a year ago.

"What he and his assistants need about as much as anything right now is good weather. The spring drills are limited to 20 actual workouts, and missing any of them could be costly."

And along with the mass of Minnesotans, Wes has a host of Ohioans pulling for him, too. A resurgence of Gopher glory couldn't be brought about by a nicer guy.

FIRST HIT WINS

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sal Maglie's game winning single in the ninth inning against the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night was the Giant pitcher's first hit of the year.

Galion Drops Second Game To Willard, Eyes Tournament

GALION — The Galion High School Tigers, playing at Mansfield this afternoon against the Mansfield Tygers, are concentrating on the forthcoming sectional tournament. The tournament opens here Friday noon. At that time the Tigers will meet Willard.

The Willard High School Railroaders were victors Monday afternoon, over the Tigers, 12-6, at Willard. It was the second loss of the season for the Tigers, both Northern Ohio League contests.

In the game at Willard, Harold Beach, starting pitcher, and Bill Enders who relieved in the fourth inning, had a tough time. Beach gave up five runs, three hits, walked four and struck out three, while Enders was touched for two hits, walked two and hit two. Seven runs were scored by Willard while Enders pitched.

The Willard pitcher, J. C. Miller, fanned 14 Galion players, walked six, hit one man and allowed seven hits.

Colonels Cling To Association Lead

By The Associated Press

Louisville retained first place in the American Association Tuesday night and second-place Milwaukee failed to gain ground as both clubs were defeated.

The Indianapolis Indians broke a five-game losing streak in shading the Colonels 4-3 behind the eight-hit twirling of Ray Narleski.

Al Cicotte, young Kansas City righthander, shackled Milwaukee 5-1 with a five-hitter. The Brewers' only run was unearned.

Toledo downed last-place Columbus 7-5 as Outfielder Red McQuillen slapped five hits in as many trips. The slugging veteran got three of his safeties off Starter Bill Allen and helped chase the Rookie lefty in a four-run Toledo seventh.

Each team collected three home runs as Minneapolis trimmed St. Paul 7-4.

FIRST TIME

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—When Al Rosen, Cleveland's hard-hitting third baseman, walloped three home runs against the Philadelphia Athletics Tuesday night it was the first time he had accomplished that feat. Al Led the American League in homers with 37 in 1950 and hit 24 last year.

Judge Blasts Rupp, College Cage Officials

Hits Subsidization Of Players While Delivering Verdict

NEW YORK (AP)—Three former University of Kentucky basketball stars accused of fixing games were free on probation today, but Coach Adoph Rupp—the famed baron on the bluegrass—was hit with the full impact of the college court scandal.

General Sessions Judge Saul S. Streit castigated Rupp and University of Kentucky officials as having to share the "responsibility for corrupting and demoralizing" the three ex-players.

On the recommendation of the distract attorney, Streit suspended sentences for Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable but placed them on indefinite probation.

In a withering attack on Kentucky, Rupp and college athletics in general, Streit said of the coach who has led Kentucky court teams since 1930:

"The undisputed facts are that he aided and abetted in the immoral subsidization of the players. With this knowledge, the charges in his care were openly exploited, their physical welfare was neglected, and he utterly failed to build their characters or instill any morals—indeed if he did not impair them.

"In view of his conduct, Mr. Rupp's sanctimonious attitude before me becomes ludicrous and comic."

Rupp did not answer the charges immediately. Nor would any officials at the university comment.

Beard, Groza, and Barnstable had pleaded guilty to fixing the point spread in a National Invitation game in Madison Square Garden against Loyola of Chicago in 1949. Loyola won the game in a big upset, 67-65.

They were charged with conspiracy, a misdemeanor. Each could have been sentenced to a maximum of three years, but the district attorney pleaded with Judge Streit for leniency because they cooperated with authorities.

Tribe Blasts A's, 21-9

Rosen Belts 3 Homers; Fridley Ties Hit Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The stampeding Cleveland Indians scored more runs Tuesday night than they have in any game since 1948 and walloped the Philadelphia A's, 21-9.

Shut out in three of their last four previous tilts, the Tribe belted out 25 hits off five Philadelphia pitchers and was never in any trouble.

Three of the blows were homers by Third Baseman Al Rosen who drove in seven runs himself.

Rookie Jim Fridley hit safely six straight times, tieing a record matched by 28 other major leaguers.

The Cleveland run record for a single game is the 26 scored against the St. Louis Browns in 1948, the year the Indians won the World Series.

Bob Feller, who gave up only one hit six days ago while losing at St. Louis, allowed the A's 18 bingles, but still got credit for his second win of the season.

"I never allowed so many hits in one game in my life," Feller commented, adding that "to me, the game was just a good workout."

But while mulling over all that today, Manager Al Lopez still had a worry. Luke Easter, his giant first baseman, pulled a thigh muscle and will miss tonight's game. Continued trouble for Easter could seriously affect Indian hopes for this year's pennant.

On the credit side, Larry Doby is scheduled to return to center field tonight as the two clubs continue the series. Doby has been out for more than a week with a bad leg.

Early Wynn pitches tonight for the Indians against Philadelphia's Bobby Shantz. Wynn won his first three starts while Shantz has a 1-1 record.

Cincy Drops 2-1 Decision To Giants

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hoping to break the New York Giant jinx that has made the easterners virtually unbeatable at Crosley Field, the Reds will send Harry Perkowski to the mound this afternoon to oppose right hander Jim Hearn.

The Giant 2 to 1 victory Tuesday night was the first meeting of the two clubs this season, but the New Yorkers had won 10 of 11 games played on the Rhinelanders' home grounds last year.

Today's contest will end the two-game series.

Sal Maglie pitched and batted his Giant teammates to victory under the lights Tuesday. He held the Reds to three hits and punched home the winning run in the ninth inning.

It was a tough game for Ewell Blackwell to lose, but wildness did it. Maglie's single came after after Alvin Dark walked. Dark scored from second on the pitcher's hit to left center after advancing on an infield out.

National League Umpire Augie Donatelli was a tail gunner on a B-17 during World War II. He was captured by the Nazis and held prisoner for 15 months.

Prexy Runners Race To Easy Win In Findlay Triangular Meet; Now Ready For Friday Night's Relays

Coach Ken Somerlots Harding High School track squad warmed up for the Friday Harding Night Relays with an easy win over Findlay and Fremont Tuesday night in a triangular meet at Findlay.

The Prexies rolled to a comfortable 84-point total. Host Findlay finished second with 47½ points while Fremant bagged 16½.

Paul Geissler finished as high scorer for the meet. He bagged four firsts for 20 points. Dave Caldwell, who is expected to cause trouble here Friday night, bagged 18 points for his Findlay team.

One of Geissler's firsts was a new Harding record. The Prexy speedster ran the 220 in 22.3 which bettered his former road record of 22.8. The mark also surpasses the Hardium stadium record of 22.5. Geissler also is approaching the Harding record in the 180 low hurdles. Tuesday he completed the race in 20.5 seconds. The present record, 20.3 was set last year by big Paul Ludwig.

The Harding runners scored a sweep in the distance events. John Ashworth finished first in both the mile and half mile in good times. Ted and Fred Price collaborated with Ashworth in scoring the sweep. Dick Tway and Tom Morton finished one-two in the 440 and Garver followed Geissler across in the 220. Jimmy Russell won the shot put.

The relay races were one of the best events of the meet. Findlay shaded Harding in the 880 relay but the Prexy anchorman, Ted Price, made up a 40-foot deficit to give harding the mile relay.

The Harding team, termed by many as the best in the history of the school, will be defending their relay title Friday night. It will be the last home appearance of the local thinclads. Tickets for the meet are now on sale.

NL Umpires Get New Set Of Instructions

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—There is a plot ready-made for some bright young baseball novelist in the latest set of instructions sent out to National League umpires on how to conduct themselves in certain crises which might arise now that lights are an integral part of the pastime.

"In the event of a temporary failure of lights while a ball is in flight or a play in process," stipulates the bulletin from Cincinnati, "the umpire will immediately call time and when the lights are turned on again and play is resumed, the batsman and all runners shall return to the last base touched by them at the time of suspension.

"Should the batsman be compelled to return to the batter's box, he shall assume the count of balls and strikes, if any, that prevailed at the time of suspension."

GET THE IDEA? SCORE TIED. last of the ninth, and a visiting bludgeoner connects with a mighty swipe. Obviously, it's a home run, but just before the sphere clangs into the distant stands our hero, who has mortgaged the old homestead on the locals, throws the master switch and saves the night.

Possibly there would be a bit of an argument, but the head umpire would have no choice once the bulbs were relit. In other words, given the right set of circumstances, that famous swat of Bobby Thomson's last fall could have escaped the record books entirely. Now they tell Charlie Dressen!

Our second favorite instruction probably is the one which cautions National League arbiters that "if two games are scheduled for one admission, the first game of the doubleheader shall be completed before the second game is started." Any umpire who gets mixed up on that one should be severely reprimanded.

The question of whether the lights should be snapped on to complete Sunday afternoon games has the two major leagues split down the middle. The National League instruction sheet flatly forbids it, and says that any Sabbath contest which runs into darkness shall be suspended and played off the next time the two clubs meet. The American League is leaving the decision to its individual clubs, though play must cease at 7 p.m. in any case.

"I'VE TALKED WITH THEM about coming to some uniform agreement," says Commissioner Ford Frick, "but they are finding it difficult because of the individual problems in the various cities. My opinion is that most of the American League cities will not use the lights on Sunday. I hear the Yankees will not, for instance."

The most interesting possibility exists at Boston. The Red Sox may snap on their lights on a gloomy Sunday, all right, but a civic ordinance stipulates they must be doused at 6.30 p.m. Nothing says they could not go on playing without the lights until 7 p.m. if the sky should have cleared.

Williams Plays Final Game Today

BOSTON (AP) — For the second time in 10 years Ted Williams, latest of the major league's 400-hitters, today doffs his Boston Red Sox uniform for that of a U. S. Marines flyer.

But before so doing, Williams will be honored by 35,000 admirers who will jam Fenway Park for his farewell appearance against the Detroit Tigers. They will shower him with modest gifts.

Now 33, Williams reports for a 17-months tour of duty as a captain at Willow Grove, Pa., on Friday. He realizes he will be out of baseball until the 1954 season but has hopes of resuming the career that has earned him about $500,000 in Red Sox wages.

Lee Promises To Carry Fight

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bobby Lee promised the nation's boxing televiewers that if undefeated Welterweight Johnny Saxton beats him tonight "you'll know he deserved it."

Referring to the New Yorker's last two opponents who refused to fight, Lee said:

"Saxton is going to have to fight this time. If he beats me the fans who have been wondering about him can stop wondering. It's going to be on the level and for keeps."

The sluggers are scheduled for a 10-round bout.

The referees stopped Saxton's last two bouts, both on the (CBS) television and radio networks carrying this 9 p.m. (EST) fight.

The "no contest" opponents were Livio Minelli and Lester Felton.

OH, ANNIE, I NEVER HAD SO MUCH FUN IN MY LIFE — PLAYING THAT NEW GAME
"NEW GAME?" GEE, DORIS — DIDN'T YA NEVER PLAY HOPSCOTCH BEFORE ? I THOUGHT EVERY KID IN THE WHOLE WORLD PLAYED HOPSCOTCH —
I DON'T KNOW HOW TO PLAY ANY GAMES —
WHEN I LIVED WITH AUNT ELVIRA, SHE WOULDN'T LET ME PLAY GAMES WHERE CHILDREN LAUGHED AND SHOUTED — AUNTIE SAID SUCH GAMES WERE ONLY FOR COMMON CHILDREN —
GEE - THERE MUST BE A TERRIBLE LOT OF COMMON CHILDREN IN THE WORLD — 'CAUSE WHEN KIDS ARE PLAYIN' GAMES THEY ALWAYS LAFF AN' HOLLER — IF YOU DON'T LAFF AN' HOLLER, IT SHOWS YOU AIN'T HAVIN' ANY FUN!

SHORT
FORD
Inc. - Lings

Beginning today we're trying a new approach to telling you about our large stock of fine A-1 dependable used cars. We realize that long, monotonous lists of used cars get tiresome. So, we'll mix in a little humor and information with our offerings but we'll keep reminding you that "you get the longest deal in town from Short!"

During World War II an irate lady saw a strong, healthy-looking lad of draft age milking a cow. "Why aren't you up at the front?", she demanded. "Because," he replied, "there ain't no milk up there."

It's Convertible weather and if the bug has bitten you stop in and see our selection. We have a dazzling 1951 Ford finished in spotless chartreuse. It's a honey, with overdrive, radio and Magic Air conditioner. Here's as clean a Convertible as you'll see all this season. Don't miss it.

In May, the National Safety Council slogan warns all you drivers, "Check Your Car - - Check Accidents." That's a good slogan and here's another good one to mull over. "Drive as if your life depended on it, It Does!"

You can bet your life that our Coral Flame Red 1951 Ford Convertible is the sweetest driving, easiest handling car you've ever seen. If you've never driven a Convertible, treat yourself to a demonstration drive in this beauty. It's clean as a pin and it has genuine red leather trim, push button radio, Magic Air conditioner and turn signals. The buy of a lifetime!

"You could have knocked me over with a feather," said the pedestrian, getting up from in front of the car, "and I wish you had!"

Here's a number that will knock your eyes out. It's a 1951 Chevrolet Styleline Deluxe Two-Door Sedan, just as sharp as a tack and loaded with all the extras you'd want. It's satin green, has radio, air conditioner and sun visor. Here's the payoff! You drive it without shifting gears. Power Glide does all the work, you just press the accelerator. Don't fail to see this exceptional used car.

A new raw material, vinyl toluene, is being experimented with for the commercial production of synthetic rubber for tires. If it works out, it should mean longer life for synthetic tires.

It's no synthetic statement when we say that the tires on our 1948 Ford Super Deluxe 6" Sedan Coupe are in top condition. This car has a deluxe radio, and heater. All its needs is an owner. Don't hesitate and it's finished in a lustrous dark green.

Doctor (arranging patient on operating table): "I'll be frank and tell you that four out of five die during this operation. Can I do anything for you before I begin?" Patient: "Yes, help me on with my shoes and pants."

We've just completed an operation on our 1947 Chevrolet Stylemaster Town Sedan. We gave it a new two-tone skin and our painter who did the job is one of the top men in his profession. This plus the radio, heater and defroster already installed in this exceptional car make it a real A-1 buy!

When you don't carry enough air in your tires and you hit an object such as a curbing, tire rims literally chew tires up on the inside of the casing.

If you're tired of tire troubles and you're ripe for a change, trade in old "money sunk" on this 1949 Ford Custom Club Coupe. It's finished in beautiful maroon and is an exceptionally clean car. Extras: push button radio, Magic Air conditioner.

"Is it true that the wild beasts of the jungle will not harm you if you carry a torch?"
"It all depends," said the practical explorer, "on how fast you carry it!"

Well Digger Finds His Luck Is Good

WARRENTON, N.C. (UP)—Two narrow escapes haven't doused the enthusiasm of Lewis Kearney, 63-year-old Negro, for his job of well-blasting.

Kearney, recovering in a hospital after a fall 40 feet down a well shaft with a stick of dynamite in his pocket, told about an even narrower escape.

He had just placed three sticks of dynamite in the bottom of a well, lit the fuses and signaled on a rope for his assistants to pull him up. About half way up the rope slipped off the windlass.

"I could hear them running away," Kearney said. "What did I do? I just snipped the ends off those fuses with about an inch to spare and waited for those boys to come back."

COW SHORT CHANGED

GROVE HILL, Ala. (UP)—Ollie Smith, a farmer near here, believes his two-fauceted cow must be the only one of her kind. The cow is equipped with only two teats instead of the standard four, Smith said.

Use Memo Pad To Keep Track Of Schedule

The busy executive has his memo pad, but did you ever hear of a kitchen bulletin board? One sensible, young Mother of two, started the idea, and now all her friends are adopting it.

Formerly a capable office worker, she figured that the only way to be sure of carrying out "just what the Doctor ordered," was to write it down in detail and post it in plain sight.

This mother set up a chart system—one for each baby—and installed the records conveniently on her kitchen wall, changing them from month to month, as the Doctor added new foods to two menus.

The daily plan started with the child's name, weight, date of visit to Doctor, Doctor's name and telephone number, and then the hour-by-hour program. There was space at the bottom of each chart for added suggestions. Important items underlined in red, such as a dietary "must" and the date for the next scheduled visit to the Doctor.

As the elder child's variety menu progressed from the wide assortment of strained fruits and vegetables to other wholesome foods, a space for both marketing and menus was allowed below the day's routine.

The chart system had great appeal for the systematic Daddy of the family, who soon formed the habit of watching the posted schedules. It was a proud day when he breezed into the kitchen and observed triumphantly, "Ha, I see Sonny has been promoted to junior foods."

This family also found the well-organized chart a boon to the girl who "sits in," for in addition to clearly providing the schedule for each child, the Doctor's name and phone number gave an added security for times when the parents might not be quickly available.

For an interesting and complete record of baby's progress month by month, keep the charts on large loose-leaf sheets and file them in order. You'll have the complete story of his steady progress.

Must Relax Babies For Best Pictures

By BETTY CLARKE

Associated Press Beauty Editor

Taking a picture of baby is an undertaking on which most young parents waste endless time and film, with frequently indifferent results.

You can't tell a baby to hold a pose, you know, and expect him to follow directions. Endless patience, a fast-action camera and a ready hand on the tripper are essential for good baby pictures.

Constance Bannister, famous baby photographer, has some advice for parents who want to take good baby pictures, either for the family album or for a contest:

"Children are essentially mimics and will imitate anything you do. If after you relax them and get their complete confidence, you're fast on the tripper with either flash or strobe light, with camera pre-set on a tripod, you can catch that minute expression in that short split second.

"Whatever prize you are seeking, all you need for that prize winner is good quick judgment, a genuine love for children, lightning fast maneuvering and a good camera and lighting equipment."

Of course the best time to take pictures of your young hopeful is when he is fresh and happy, after a meal and a nap. A tired, hungry baby is not likely to display his best charm for the camera.

Universal Appeal Makes It Favorite of Nation

Of all the "special" weeks held during the year, the one drawing the most interest is National Baby Week. And no wonder when millions of families have a baby and other millions at least know a baby.

Each year a day of National Baby Week is set aside and observed as Child Health Day. This year, that day is to be observed on May 1. The day has been set aside as a symbol of a great nation's concern for the generations to come, an appointed season when the entire country is asked to awaken "to the fundamental necessity of a year-round program for protection and development of the health of the nation's children."

The day-long observance was set up by a resolution passed by the U.S. Congress in 1928 and is proclaimed each year through a special Presidential proclamation. The U S Children's Bureau hopes this year to stimulate interest in the handicapped children by including them more and more in the activities of well children.

Aim of Observance

Like Child Health Day, the observance of National Baby Week is designed to stimulate interest in the health and well-being of our newest citizens.

During the week special efforts are made to publicize the latest methods of rearing healthier and happier babies and to advertise the products, both new and old, designed especially for babies and their parents.

This special National Baby Week section brings, in addition to news of what is new in baby training and articles of advice to parents, the announcements of local merchants, consumer services and civic organizations, of their ability and readiness to help parents to give their babies the best.

Widespread Effects

So wide is the scope of the problems of raising healthy, happy children that almost all civic or business activity is concerned with it.

Our department stores have carefully planned sections devoted to furnishing babies with the most recent baby clothing and supplies. Some stores specialize entirely in baby needs.

Our groceries and drug stores carry many special foods and medical supplies for babies. Our furniture stores carry special baby furniture Our appliance stores stock special devices to help save mother's work.

Our laundries, public utilities, dairies, consumer services and even our banks are prepared to cater to the newcomer in the family, to help parents make home and the future more secure for them.

A teething ring with an unbreakable mirror is perfect as a pendant for carriage or crib. Babies are usually fascinated by their image.

WHEN BABY VISITS

To keep baby happy when visiting, take along a bag of toys especially reserved for such occasions. Their novelty will keep him happily occupied.

Child's Health May Depend On Diaper

It is important for the baby's health that his diapers be as nearly sterile as possible. A good diaper service, using recommended methods of laundering, can do a better job that in most homes.

In a good commercial laundry cycle, according to Barbara Anderson, director of Consumer Service Parents' Magazine, bacteria are destroyed by a combination of factors

One of these is heat, at least 160 degrees sustained for 30 minutes. Another is plenty of water to help float away bacteria released by sudsing. Soap and mechanical action are others, plus a properly controlled bleaching operation.

In the average home water is seldom more than 140 degrees and 160 degrees is much too hot for hands to bear. However, an approximation of the commercial result can be reached by the following techniques:

1. Presoak in a recommended disinfectant.
2. Use adequately softened water.
3. Suds twice, add a recommended bleach to the last suds.
4. Rinse three and four times, preferably four.

The quantity and kind of soap and detergent are important to cleansing as well as to lowering of bacterial count. All soap and bleach must be rinsed out of diapers to make them safe for use against the baby's delicate skin.
